Mild mannered and circumspect was an evening spent with Judge Halsey I. Spence, Constable Walter Skillman and Desk Sergeant John Gregory, all of Fullerton, who retreated to "Archie's," at La Vida Springs. The judge is from the state made famous by Champ Clark's immortal "hound-dog." Jim Reed and Jesse James, but there is no relativity inference. Skillman comes from Minnesota, the land of wood pulp and forest fires, while Gregory has his own famous specifications as guardian of the Isaac Walton interests in Orange and other counties—mostly Orange. It is interesting and profitable to mingle with these disciples of Alexander Dumas, and to get their slant on local, and affairs not so local.

I'm a great admirer of a lawn mower when the other fellow is pushing it. So far I have not been able to reconcile myself to working all day and then adding to the white man's burden by becoming an adjunct to a weed cutter.

G-Men Nab Trio as U.S. Spies

WAR SECRETS SAID STOLEN BY GERMAN

Woman, 2 Men Face Espionage Charges

BULLETIN
NEW YORK. (AP)—Two men and a woman arrested as spy suspects by federal agents were taken before U. S. Commissioner Charles W. Coffey today and held on $25,000 bond each on charges of espionage.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said today that three persons had been arrested in New York in an alleged plot to sell United States army and navy secrets.

The persons in custody are Johanna Hoffman of Dresden, Germany, a hair dresser on the transatlantic liner, Europa; Gunther Gustave Rumrich, former United States army sergeant and allegedly an army deserter, and Erich Kleiser, a soldier stationed at Mitchell field.

Hoover said Rumrich confessed that he obtained various sums of money from persons purporting to be secret agents of a foreign government in return for information (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

GIRLS, LIQUOR, OIL MAN, JAIL

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of four minor girls by "plying them with liquor," Ray A. Payne, 24-year-old Stanton oil worker was booked in the county jail today on a complaint by the juvenile court.

Payne is charged with committing a felony morals offense against a 15-year-old girl last Oct. 2, and with contributing to the delinquency of three other girls—14, 16 and 17 years of age—by giving them liquor and molesting them on three other occasions.

The complaint was filed in Fullerton justice court by Carl Warner, juvenile probation officer.

Bathing Beauties Badly Bumped On Boulevard

Clad in bathing suits and headed for a gay week-end outing at the beach, seven girls came to grief this morning when their car was clipped in the rear, spun around and overturned after they allegedly had missed a boulevard stop at First street and Harbor boulevard at 4:30 a. m.

Backward Music Brings Plaudits Or Something

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—Bach backwards, Bach forwards, Bach upside down—that's the way Edwin Gerschevski, New York pianist, played Bach last night.

Gerschevski, who can make four fugues grow where only one blossomed, took a Bach fugue from the "Well Tempered Clavier" and made four pieces out of it by playing it forward and right side up as Bach wrote it, by playing it forward and upside down, backward and right side up and backward and upside down.

Some, who listened to his recital, liked the backward and upside down version best. Gerschevski suggested the piece be called the "Well Tempered Clavier" or the "Ill Tempered Clavier" and remarked "the jazz boys might profit sometimes by turning their choruses upside down and running them off backwards."

Athletic Architects

OLSON HITS POCKET VETO

Governor Merriam pocket-vetted the state enabling act under the Wagner-Steagall low-cost housing bill on orders from Harry Chandler, Los Angeles publisher and financier, State Senator Culbert I. Olson declared last night.

The senator also discussed the Huntington Beach tideland drilling emergency bill at length. He said it should have been made a permanent measure after the governor signed it, but was held up to permit adversaries to gather signatures for a referendum.

Olson's speech was the first in a series to be presented here by Democratic candidates for governor.

FDR HINTED AS NOMINEE

BOSTON. (AP)—A declaration that President Roosevelt might be nominated for a third term, but if so would be defeated, today came from Senator Wheeler (D, Mont.).

The progressive western senator, who split with the President over the court bill, made his statement at a press conference soon after his arrival here to deliver three addresses over the weekend.

"If the President is a candidate for a third term," said Wheeler, "he undoubtedly would be nominated. But I don't think anybody could be elected for a third term."

The senator said he was still in favor of a single term of six years for each President, on the ground that men so elected "would be free of politics."

He said he would seek the nomination of a "Progressive Democrat" in 1940, and reiterated his belief that the people would not go back to what he called "any stand-pat Republican, like Harding or Hoover."

PETITIONS ASK PARK METERS

Representing a company in Oklahoma, C. B. Stockton was today circulating a petition throughout the business district requesting the city council to install parking meters.

The Dual Parking Meter company of Oklahoma points out in the petition that it wishes permission to place its devices in Santa Ana on a 90-day trial.

The petition proposes the devices should be located on Fourth street from Birch to Bush and on intersecting streets from Fifth to Third streets with the exception of Main where the meters would be installed one-half block further north and south.

Wright Promised Freedom Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Paul A. Wright, "unconscious" slayer of his wife, Evelyn, and his friend, John Kimmel, is due to walk out of the psychopathic ward of the general hospital at 10 a. m. tomorrow a free man.

Dist. Atty. Buron Fitts said today his office planned no further action against the former airport president.

Rosita Has Feast Of Nine Lives By Gulping Guppies

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Rosita, pet Maltese cat at Carnegie Institute, had the feast of her nine lives when a sudden change of temperature broke a 63-gallon glass tank. The tank contained what the institute's scientists call South American guppies—but to Rosita they tasted just like any other fish.

Conservative Party Split Averted By Chamberlain

PARIS. (AP)—Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos issued an implied warning to Germany today to keep Nazi hands off France's central European allies. In his first public pronouncement of French intentions since the rise of Nazi influence in Austria and the turn of Britain toward deals with dictators, Delbos told the chamber of deputies France would follow Eng-

HOPE WANES FOR PERSHING RECOVERY

Friends Say Warrior Had Premonition

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing languished near death today, but at 9:30 a. m. a physician's bulletin reported no change from the alarming condition into which he sank about dawn.

The terse bulletin was delivered from the hospital room by Lieut. Col. S. U. Marietta, while Dr. Roland Davison remained in constant attendance at the bedside. It was the first time Colonel Marietta had delivered a bulletin.

Excitement had prevailed near the weakening commander since early morning when further signs of failing were noticed in his rugged heart.

In his previous bulletin Dr. Davison reported the warrior was sinking rapidly.

Gen. John J. Pershing knew a week and a half ago he probably would not recover from his current illness, a friend disclosed today.

Declining to be quoted by name, the friend said the aged commander expressed conviction the end was near in a conversation with Gen. Charles G. Dawes and Gen. James G. Harbord, who visited him here.

Dawes and Harbord, intimates of Pershing, told him he soon would be up and active again.

"No, I'm not recovering," General Pershing was quoted as replying. "My heart is growing tired."

"Don't talk that way," his companions admonished, "it's just a touch of rheumatism, and you're getting over it."

Davis, on an attachment suit by Sarah I. Hardy, owed the money but had not paid. Recently he asserted sole property for $7000, and was cited into court for examination yesterday.

"He won't talk," attorneys reported to Presiding Judge James L. Allen.

Judge Allen found Davis in contempt of court and ordered him to jail "until he wants to testify."

Davis stayed away five minutes, then he volunteered to dig up the money. Taken by officers to his home, he reappeared with the $3300 in currency and was released.

Riverside Holds Embezzler Suspect

RIVERSIDE. (AP)—Sheriff Carl Rayburn said today he has in custody Victor de Kubinyi, 64, an instructor at Elsinore naval academy, charged in a New York grand jury indictment with embezzling $800.

Known at the school as Dr. Felix Renatus, teacher of Latin and psychology, de Kubinyi waived extradition when he appeared before Justice of the Peace R. A. Moore. He is charged with posing as a count, an artist and a priest. He is held at the county jail pending arrival of New York authorities.

Jap Shanghai Act Brings Sharp U.S. Note of Warning

DELAY ASKED OF ARMY IN FLOOD PLANS

Postponement of Work On S. A. Demanded

Ten of the largest users of irrigation water in Orange county today united in a demand that the United States Army postpone action on a projected $25,000,000 flood control and water conservation program on the upper reaches of the Santa Ana river.

Delay was asked so that county interests may submit data concerning runoff and flood water rights which it is feared might be perilled by the Riverside county project.

Details of the upper county plan were presented at a meeting called by the army yesterday, and the Orange county water companies also asked for additional time in which to submit their findings on the program.

C. A. Palmer, secretary of the Orange County Water District, speaking for the 10 companies, explained progress that had been made in litigation over adjudication of water rights, and added that six years of work instigated by the Irvine company were just nearing fruition.

Groups represented were the Anaheim Union Water company, the Santa Ana River Development company, the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, the Orange County Water District, the Irvine company, Orange County Farm and Orchard, the Santa Ana Water company, Laguna Beach water district, Carpenter Irrigation district, and the Serrano Irrigation district.

Ann Calls Cops

Ann Harding, noted film actress, today asked for police protection when she learned her former husband, Harry Bannister, planned to visit their daughter, Jane, 10, in Ann's Baltimore, Md., apartment. In divorce proceedings she obtained custody of the child but Bannister is allowed to visit his daughter.

By the Associated Press

The United States in a sharp note today warned Japan that the rights of Americans in the Orient must be respected by the empire, as consular officials protested action of Japanese in sealing an American-owned warehouse in the heart of the international settlement.

At the same time, Japan warned Great Britain her planes flew over scenes of Japanese naval operations in China at their own risk. Japan requested Britain to keep her planes away, after an Imperial Airways plane was endangered while flying over a destroyer in the Canton river delta area.

The American note to Japan will figure, officials in Washington said, in a final bill to the Tokyo government for injuries to Americans and their property in China.

It was intended, they said, not only as an immediate warning to Japan, but also to "keep the words straight" so that when the day of settlement comes Japan will be reminded of its obligations.

JOBHOLDERS FILE PAPERS

Equipped with a state permit and articles of incorporation, the Orange County Employees' credit union will begin operations Tuesday.

The union, similar to organization already operated by county teachers, was established to "promote thrift, honesty and integrity" among its members, according to the articles of incorporation.

County employees may participate by purchasing one five dollar class A membership share. Further investments will be made by purchase of five dollar class B shares or by deposits which draw four per cent interest.

Dividends on the shares depend on income of the organization from interest charged employees on personal loans.

J. Arthur Anderson, president of the county employees association, also heads the credit union. Mrs. Belle J. Spangler is vice-president. Lester H. Schmelzer is secretary-treasurer, and other directors are Laura Joiner, Laura B. Betts, Grace E. Lansing, J. E. Lloyd, David R. McMillan and Lynn B. Wallace.

"Sunrise" Trial Set For Mar. 10

Trial of police charges that the Journal's Wednesday Sunrise edition violates the city "handbill ordinance" was set today for March 10 before City Judge J. G. Mitchell.

T. R. Alvord, assistant business manager of The Journal, pleaded not guilty before Judge Mitchell yesterday to two complaints, based on Sunrise editions of Feb. 16 and 23 and waived a jury. Judge Mitchell set trial for 10 a. m., March 10.

Complaints were signed by police after other newspapers had complained about the new weekly morning edition.

OFFICERS IN PROBE OF CHARGES

'Ham Can't Help Him,' Say Authorities

Orange county's political football — WPA — received one more resounding kick today, as officials of regional administration offices admitted a month-long investigation of former Superintendent Dan Mulherron's conduct of the office was nearing an end.

"Political enemies" of the former San Clemente mayor preferred the charges being probed by the bureau of investigations of the Works Progress Administration, The Journal was told.

Reports current that charges against Mulherron had been found groundless, and that the San Clemente man would be reinstated as head of the county offices, were denied by Los Angeles.

ORDERS FROM WASHINGTON
"Mulherron," The Journal was told, "was removed by orders from Washington. He will not be replaced."

"The WPA job in Orange county has been a political football. The situation was cleaned up under orders from Washington, and control of the county put under the zone offices in Long Beach."

"We realize 'Ham' (Hamilton H. Cotton, Southland political tycoon) would have saved Mulherron's job if he could. But Mulherron will not be reinstated."

STILL MEMBER
It was explained that Mulherron still officially is a member of the WPA organization, on accumulated leave. Investigation of his affairs was started just after the former superintendent's resignation, and when control of his office was shifted to Long Beach.

The WPA, it was pointed out, has not preferred charges against Mulherron.

"Officially," they said, "when the office has been run on purely political grounds the man in charge is going to make enemies. Mulherron has made enemies, and it is they who laid the charges against him."

AFRAID COMPLICATED
On results of the finds will hinge whether or not complaints against Mulherron and others in the organization are filed with the United States district attorney's office, The Journal learned.

"The affair is so complicated," a district official said, "it will take some little time to analyze the facts brought out."

Mulherron, reported seriously ill, was not available for any statement.

Billings To Ask Prison Freedom

FOLSOM. (AP)—California's prison board of terms and paroles considered for the third time today the freedom petition of Warren K. Billings, convicted with Thomas J. Mooney of the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing.

Billings, whose previous petitions were denied, appeared briefly before the board last night.

Joseph Stephens, board member, said Billings' plea for parole had been taken under consideration but gave no indication of what action the board may take.

Criminal Calendar Takes Big Slump

While Superior Judge James L. Allen finished in 10 minutes one of the shortest criminal calendars in local court history, another department worked far through yesterday's lunch hour on its Friday cases.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames, across the hall, labored from 9:30 a. m. to 1:15 p. m. on an exceptionally-heavy juvenile court calendar. Even then one case had to be continued to the afternoon session.

Edison Demands Huge Fleet for Defense of Coast

JAPS FEARED ENTERING IN NAVAL RACE

More Airships Asked By Secretary

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Charles Edison, assistant secretary of the navy, told congress today the future peace of the United States depended directly on the maintenance of a defensive force "sufficiently strong and expertly trained that other nations will not risk a war with us."

Testifying before the house naval committee on behalf of the $1,156,000,000 naval expansion program, Edison said he was "thoroughly and sincerely" in favor of it.

In the face of current international political conditions, he asserted, "it is certain that our naval needs are for parity in strength with other naval powers."

Edison denied the proposed naval expansion was based solely on reports in Italian newspapers that Japan was building 43,000-ton battleships.

He made the denial in response to questions by Representative Brewster, Republican, Maine, who declared the United States appeared to be embarking on the huge construction with little other provocation.

"I am satisfied Japan is building some ships," Edison said, "but I do not know their tonnage."

Although he said he believed a separate fleet for the Atlantic was "desirable if we want to do a real job of national defense," Edison expressed belief the nation could not afford it at this time.

In response to questions by Representative Maas, Republican, Minnesota, Edison said he did not believe the navy had built enough airships to justify complete abandonment of lighter-than-air craft.

URGE DIRIGIBLES
Representative McGrath, Democrat, California, a strong advocate of the proposed naval enlargement, drew from Edison a statement that the government could build four or five dirigibles for the cost of one cruiser.

The secretary agreed with McGrath that if dirigibles prove efficient as aircraft carriers, 10 dirigibles would be just as useful as one surface aircraft carrier, though he said they would be used in different fields.

Chairman Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, of the house naval committee proposed that the navy expansion program provide for improved shipyard facilities, particularly on the Pacific coast.

He said the nation would be "in a horrible fix" if war should find the yards congested.

"What would he do for repair facilities if some of our vessels became disabled in battle?" he asked.

"It is imperative that we have private as well as navy yards available to handle both construction and repair work."

Vinson, entrusted by the administration with getting the $1,156,000,000 navy bill through the house, said he would offer an amendment to give west coast shipbuilders a 6 per cent differential on naval contracts.

JAPS CLAIM NO NAVAL RACE PLANNED
TOKYO, (AP)—Japan will not engage in a naval building race, Foreign Minister Koki Hirota told the Japanese parliament today, and in fact hopes to forestall such a race among world powers.

"Japan's foreign relations now are very delicate," Hirota said, and in America there is some misunderstanding among the people, but the United States government is well informed and trying to maintain a neutral spirit among the people."

RAAB'S BAIL FIXED AT $1000

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The county grand jury indicted Leon Raab, race horse owner, yesterday on charges of attempted bribery in a bookmaking scene.

He is accused of participating in a syndicate's attempt to install bookmakers at Santa Anita race track through a planned $250,000 weekly pay-off to police officials and others.

After the indictment was returned, Raab's bail was fixed at $1000.

Through the use of this key, he said, the FBI agents were able to decipher certain messages sent through these confidential channels. Hoover said the communications "will undoubtedly result in the arrest of other individuals in connection with the same case."

BROTHER AIDS
Hoover asserted that it was further revealed through questioning Rumrich that the same secret agents were interested in obtaining the aid of Rumrich's brother, who is now living in a foreign country.

When questioned concerning his attempt to obtain the 50 blank passports, Hoover said Rumrich confessed that he had been instructed to get them for use of various secret agents to permit those agents to enter other European countries as American citizens.

Hoover said the United States attorney had authorized prosecution of Rumrich, Glaser and Miss Hoffman on charges of espionage and they would be arraigned today before the United States commissioner for the southern district of New York.

HOUSE FINISHES HEARING ON OIL
WASHINGTON, (AP)—The house judiciary committee finished hearings today on a bill to vest title of submerged coastal oil lands in the government.

William McCraw, Texas attorney general, an opponent, and Commander Howard Beiseimer of the navy department, a proponent, were closing witnesses.

McCraw reiterated contentions coast states had sovereign rights over their shorelands and asserted Texas and the 13 original states would be exempt from the proposed measures because they were original owners of their soil and never relinquished titles to the United States.

Beiseimer said the bill would not create title, but would direct the justice department to institute litigation to determine the true owners of disputed lands.

4 Escape When Train Hits Car
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—An automobile bearing four persons was struck by the Santa Fe's fast eastbound chief at a crossing near here last night. The car was derailed, delaying the passenger train an hour and 13 minutes. The automobile was demolished.

Mrs. W. M. Agnew and her three children, Irene, Jane and Billy, climbed from the wreckage uninjured.

Murder Suspect Asked Returned
SACRAMENTO, (AP)—The governor's office today issued a requisition at the request of Los Angeles county authorities for the return from Seattle of Albert Lipp.

The papers charge him with murder and attempted robbery. They allege he drove an automobile which took the slayer of J. W. Burke from the scene of the killing Jan. 21.

Check 9 Cent, Bank Charges 10 to Cash
MONTEREY, Tenn. (AP)—Gilford Dillard, receiving his first social security check, wound up with a 1-cent loss.

G-MEN NAB SPY TRIO

concerning coast artillery and other fortifications, and mobilization of forces in connection with the defense of Panama Canal.

The bureau director quoted Rumrich as saying the military secrets were sometimes written in code and turned over to Miss Hoffman or other individuals employed on various ships that called at New York.

On other occasions, Hoover said, Rumrich would send the information to code to various addresses in a foreign country.

Hoover said further investigation disclosed that "certain secret agents" were plotting to lure the commanding officer of an important New York military base to a mid-town hotel under forged orders, at which time the officer would be instructed to bring to the hotel certain important military secrets. He would then be relieved of the plans, Hoover said, by the secret agents.

Rumrich was arrested by agents of the state department and the New York city police, the G-men chief asserted, while attempting to obtain 50 passports by impersonating Secretary of State Hull.

ETROPE GETS PLANS
Agents of the FBI continued the investigation. Hoover said, ascertaining through statements made by Rumrich that he was obtaining information concerning military operations of the United States army and forwarding it through confidential sources to various addresses in a European country.

Hoover said Rumrich stated in his confession that he had been requested to get and was in the process of obtaining information concerning two new United States aircraft carriers now under construction at navy yards.

Hoover said that as a result of information furnished by Rumrich, Glaser was taken into custody and a confession obtained from him substantiating Rumrich's story.

OBTAINS CODE
It was further revealed, said Hoover, that Rumrich had obtained from Glaser certain air corps confidential codes which were forwarded through secret channels to a foreign government.

He said Miss Hoffman when arrested had in her possession coded letters indicating the receipt of these codes by a foreign secret agent, and also money to pay Glaser and Rumrich for the codes.

Hoover said the key to the code used by the espionage ring was found in the possession of Miss Hoffman and is now in the hands of the FBI.

Through the use of this key, he said, the FBI agents were able to decipher certain messages sent through these confidential channels. Hoover said the communications "will undoubtedly result in the arrest of other individuals in connection with the same case."

William McCraw, Texas attorney general, an opponent, and Commander Howard Beiseimer of the navy department, a proponent, were closing witnesses.

McCraw reiterated contentions coast states had sovereign rights over their shorelands and asserted Texas and the 13 original states would be exempt from the proposed measures because they were original owners of their soil and never relinquished titles to the United States.

Beiseimer said the bill would not create title, but would direct the justice department to institute litigation to determine the true owners of disputed lands.

4 Escape When Train Hits Car
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—An automobile bearing four persons was struck by the Santa Fe's fast eastbound chief at a crossing near here last night. The car was derailed, delaying the passenger train an hour and 13 minutes. The automobile was demolished.

Mrs. W. M. Agnew and her three children, Irene, Jane and Billy, climbed from the wreckage uninjured.

Murder Suspect Asked Returned
SACRAMENTO, (AP)—The governor's office today issued a requisition at the request of Los Angeles county authorities for the return from Seattle of Albert Lipp.

The papers charge him with murder and attempted robbery. They allege he drove an automobile which took the slayer of J. W. Burke from the scene of the killing Jan. 21.

Check 9 Cent, Bank Charges 10 to Cash
MONTEREY, Tenn. (AP)—Gilford Dillard, receiving his first social security check, wound up with a 1-cent loss.

U.S. SENDS 2ND JAP PROTEST

pan will have no excuse for not paying.

The protest, filed with Japanese Consul General Suemasa Okamoto, raised vital issues concerning foreign property rights in the settlement. Japanese gendarmes and consular police precipitated the matter by sealing the warehouse of the Commercial Express company. Half of the premises was occupied by a United States naval warehouse.

Since the international settlement is neutral territory, not involved in the dispute between China and Japan, and Americans and other treaty nationals enjoy the status of extraterritoriality, the Japanese action was regarded as a serious assumption of authority.

NOTE INTERPRETED
Officials interpreted the note as meaning: Japan will not be able to say, "we warned your nationals to leave danger areas and they would not do so, so we are not responsible for what has happened to them."

If Japan should take this stand, the United States will reply: "Our nationals had a right to remain there. We have repeatedly asserted this right. You are responsible for any damage done to them, and we hold you accountable."

WILL REPEAT
Each time Japan warns Americans to leave certain areas and to mark their properties in a special manner, the state department, it was said, will repeat its position.

Thus far the Japanese have been ready to assume responsibility for damages. Some claims have been settled on the spot. Japan has asserted her desire and intention of paying full indemnity for the sinking of the Gunai Maru, Dec. 12.

The United States has not yet complied that list of damages, owing to the impossibility of saying at this time how permanent will be the disability of some of the injured.

RUSSIA THREATENS JOBS FOR SHIP SEIZURE
TOKYO, (AP)—The foreign office disclosed today it had received a note from Russia which, it said, threatened retaliation for the detention of a Soviet vessel.

The ship, a passenger liner, was found anchored Monday in Hakodate harbor and forcibly boarded for investigation. The Soviet consul said the ship had sought haven from a snowstorm. Japanese said the vessel carried Russian naval officers and hydrographers.

Fear was expressed here that Russian retaliation might mean seizure of Japanese vessels plying between Tsungta and Vladivostok, in Soviet Siberia.

The Japanese home office promised "strong action" if the threat is fulfilled.

HUGE CHINESE ARMY IN SLOW RETREAT
SHANGHAI, (AP)—An army of 250,000 Chinese is being repelled toward the Yellow river in Shansi province, in a Japanese westward drive to invade hitherto untouched Shensi province, headquarters of the Chinese red army and other guerrilla units, a Japanese spokesman reported tonight.

Apparently Sui in North Shensi, was the Japanese objective from which they could radiate to occupy the vast wheat-producing plains and rich terraced hillsides and conquer the provincial population of 10,000,000.

This phase of the campaign was directed at the Chinese about 200 miles northwest of the inland terminus of the Lunghai railway front through Central China.

JAP DIET IN UPROAR OVER MOBILIZATION
TOKYO, (AP)—Victors in its first pitched battle with the government over the drastic mobilization bill, the diet sub-committee to which it was sent for revision avoided discussion of it in a brief session today.

The 45 member sub-committee convened for 10 minutes and elected a chairman, then adjourned until Monday. It was believed the government would unlimber its biggest gun—Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye—at the sub-committee's next session.

The premier remained at his suburban villa during the general session of the diet (parliament) when the lower house howled down government supporters of the bitterly controversial measure.

It was criticized as fascist and dictatorial in nature. Members of the diet charged it would emasculate the Japanese constitution and rob the people of their basic rights.

GOLD DIGGERS DESPERATE

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The job of deepening the cellar under an old house was completed today with the aid of a pile of buried gold—but it was a task too well done, the contractor decided.

Fellow laborers swung their picks with a will when John Johnson turned up a $20 gold piece, and by the time the treasure hunt ended the cellar was two feet deeper than the owner desired.

Johnson saw something gleaming in the loose earth at his feet. "I thought they were washers—then . . ."

Big heaps of sodden dirt told the story. Johnson's pick rose and fell as it never did before. Gold and more gold.

In vain did he try to hide his excitement from fellow workers. They came and dug too. Several hours' effort yielded 57 coins worth $1,140.

Then arose the question of ownership. Elmer R. Beers, prosperous electrical contractor who purchased the house last year, claimed the monies. He divided $200 between Johnson and two other laborers, then kept the rest.

By the rule of "finders keepers" Johnson calculated the find was all his. "I'm going to see a lawyer," he declared.

Who buried the gold remained a puzzle. The Late Martha Altman, from whom Beers bought the place, occupied the house for years.

REBELS OPEN SPRING DRIVE
HENDAYE, France, Spanish Frontier. (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco shifted insurgent forces behind the lines today in preparation for his long-expected spring offensive.

The insurgent leader was reported to have sent Navarrese troops south to reinforce Gen. Queipo de Llano's command, which may start a drive against Almeria on the southwest Spanish coast.

Other troops were moved into the Zaragoza sector, facing Barcelona to the east.

Having regained mastery of strategic Teruel, the insurgents were busy cleaning up the ruined south Aragon city.

Government troops in trenches miles to the east and southeast of Teruel remained on the defensive, confining their activity to shelling the Teruel-Zaragoza highway.

EX-ALCATRAZ CONVICT HELD
KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Dwight Brantley, agent in charge of the federal bureau of investigation here, announced last night the arrest of Karl Clark Strain, 26, wanted for violation of a conditional release from Alcatraz Island and the kidnapping of a San Diego, Calif., policeman.

Strain was arrested aboard a city bus by three F. B. I. agents, who said he and his wife had been occupying an apartment as Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Murphy. Brantley said his men found a half dozen army officer's uniforms and two 45 caliber automatic pistols in the apartment.

Brantley said Strain also was wanted at Fort Worth, Tex., for impersonating an army officer and had cashed worthless checks while posing as an officer in California.

PROPERTY TAX OPPOSED IN L. A.
SACRAMENTO, (AP)—A campaign for the restriction of common property taxes was announced today by the Property Tax Limit League of California as it offered articles of incorporation for filing at the office of Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The league, which will establish state headquarters in Los Angeles, denounced the present ad valorem tax set-up as "grossly inequitable" in relation to real estate and tangible personal property.

DR. FUTCHER DIES UNEXPECTEDLY
BALTIMORE, (AP)—Dr. Thomas B. Fletcher, 67, recognized as one of the foremost diagnosticians of the country, died unexpectedly while on a routine round of duty at the Johns Hopkins hospital today where he had worked since 1894.

During the World war, he served as a lieutenant colonel in the Canadian army medical corps.

He was criticized as fascist and dictatorial in nature. Members of the diet charged it would emasculate the Japanese constitution and rob the people of their basic rights.

S. A. PLAYERS WIN PRAISE FOR WORK

Specialty outstanding work was done by actor J. Leslie Steffensen as Dr. Haggert, and Gertrude Horn as Abby, in last night's production of "The Late Christopher Bean" given at Ebell clubhouse by the Santa Ana community players. The play will be repeated tonight.

This masterly modern play written by Sidney Howard and directed by talented Gladys Simpson Shafer was exceptionally well cast and local actors and actresses vied for honors with the professional troups which have been seen in this drama.

Abby, servant in the doctor's home who was the wife of the deceased artist, although this was unknown to the Haggerts, acted her part consistently and with feeling and finesse. Dr. Haggert drew many spontaneous laughs from the audience by his human portrayal of the county doctor caught in the mesh of a squabble among big city art dealers and slickers.

Wherever the cast included Helen Johnson who did a fine job of portraying the doctor's strong-willed wife; Betty Jo Willis as Susan and Florence Brownridge Nalle as Ada, the doctor's daughters; Warren Creamer as Susan's admirer, who did a very natural piece of acting; Arthur Chapman and J. Wyle Carvie as art swindlers from New York and John Colwell as New York art critic.

A string quartet from the Elwood Bear violin school played chamber music and other selections before the play and as an entreacte entertainment. Burr Shafer, chairman of scenery committee, and his group are to be congratulated for the set.

NOTED ARMY LEADER DIES
CHICAGO, (AP)—Col. Noble Brandon Judah, former United States Ambassador to Cuba, World war veteran and lawyer, died early today.

The 56-year-old former statesman had undergone an operation early last month for removal of his right eye at the Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore Md.

Col. Judah was ambassador to Cuba in 1928 and 1929. During the war he was assistant chief of staff of the Rainbow division. He was promoted to assistant chief of staff of the first army corps, a position which he held until he retired from the army in February, 1919.

OREGON JURY INDICTS FOUR
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—While the Lane county grand jury returned four indictments against seven men yesterday, 13 men here entered seven pleas of guilty and 18 of innocent to charges involving acts of alleged labor terrorism.

Indicted at Eugene were Hugh Reynolds, secretary of the Central Labor council and A. F. of L. Teamsters; Vern Bailey, teamsters' agent; Ray W. Blaine, president, and V. D. McCauley, secretary of the Eugene A. F. of L. Barbers' union, on charges of conspiring to commit a felony.

25 WAREHOUSES CLOSE IN FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—James Reed, president of the Association of San Francisco Distributors, announced today that 25 San Francisco wholesale grocery warehouses had closed in a spread of the Oakland warehouse dispute.

Reed said the warehouses were closed after CIO workers had refused to fill orders placed by the Hagstrom Food Stores, Inc., of Oakland. Reed said employees instructed the warehousemen to leave, but that they refused and engaged in what was termed a sit-down strike.

Daughter, Son, Get Wakeham Estate
Inheritance taxes totalling $606,82 were paid today on the $61,500 estate of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Wakeham, who died last Aug. 30.

A share of the estate, according to an inheritance tax receipt, goes to Mary A. Wakeham, a daughter, whose interest is valued at $14,715.82, and Ernest A. Wakeham, a son, who gets $12,616.20.

Youthful Bandit Makes Good His Getaway

TAKES CAR AND KIDNAPS LOCAL MAN

Gun Used to Force Givens to Drive Off

Successful in his getaway from police and deputy sheriffs who spent all night scouring the county, a youthful bandit-kidnaper was still at large this noon—and apparently still driving the 1938-model car he took from James K. Givens, 1121 South Birch street, at the point of a gun.

The robber was last seen speeding west on Washington avenue after robbing Givens and forcing him to get out of the car shortly after 10 o'clock last night.

Police today believed the bandit, described as 28 years of age, five feet 11 inches in height and weighing 185 pounds, had fled from the county, but they expected to find Givens' car, a 1938 Chevrolet sedan bearing the license number 2-Y-7868, abandoned somewhere near here.

GUN PRODUCED
The kidnap—robbery started dramatically at Eleventh and Main streets where Givens was parked waiting for his wife and son to return from an ice cream parlor. He was sitting in the car when the man approached and asked him where Orange avenue is, Givens told police. When he was answering, the man allegedly pulled out what Givens believed was a .32 caliber revolver, poked it in his ribs and ordered him to start driving.

They traveled to Washington avenue and Flower street, where the startled victim was told to pull over to the curb. There the robber "frisked" him, Givens reported, taking a bank book and bill fold containing $1.15.

ORDERED OUT
He then ordered the Santa Ana man to get out of the car and start walking, after which the robber reportedly raced the car west on Washington avenue.

The 1938, featuring the $600 car and a $60 trumpet in the back seat, was totaled $974.64, according to Givens' estimate. The car, he said, is registered to the B. J. McMullen company, First and Sycamore streets.

Town Proposes Putting Drunks In Lion Cages

WOBURN, Mass. (P)—Braving criticism of his plan to lock drunks in cages to sober up, Woburn's former mayor, William E. Kane, today headed toward a Nashua, N. H., animal farm, to price the best in lion cages.

"I'll have those cages down here the first of the week," he said, "and then it'll only be a matter of getting a registration plate from registrar of motor vehicles."

Kane said he would parade the drunks, with the cages mounted on a trailer. "We'll have the parades not only on Saturday nights but other nights as well. The merchants of the city will reap a fortune from the crowds that will turn out."

Life In These U. S.

Fox Rehearses Hounds For Chase, Then They All Trot Home Together

COOPERATION
SANTOYO, N. C.—Fox and hounds rehearse for huntmen at the tobacco farm of Hoyle Helms. Helms says he has a fox which obligingly leads his 21 hounds over hill and dale, then climbs a tree—a signal to the dogs that the chase is ended.

Then the fox and hounds, he says, trot home together.

SMART
ROCHESTER, Ind.—There was an epidemic of colds—and a lot of dissatisfaction among elephants at a circus here today.

Sally, largest of the herd, developed a cough yesterday. A veterinarian prescribed three pints of whiskey in a bucket of water. Today, keepers said, all the other elephants were coughing.

ALLERGIC
VENTURA, Calif.—Jack L. Polski, high school football coach, claims one of his eyes puffs up whenever he handles football equipment.

He asked the state industrial compensation commission to allow payment of $45 in doctor bills.

DISCORDANT NOTES
CHICAGO.—Mrs. Martha Zielsky, a 59-year old widow, testified in defense of a breach of promise suit that Anton Budelis, her former roomer, snored himself out of chances for romance and marriage. He sounded "like a German band," she told the court.

Municipal Judge Thomas Green threw out Budelis' suit for $800 heart balm.

POTASSIUM EASE
OTTUMWA.—Passengers at a local flag stop of a bus line now are notified of bus arrivals with subdued tools of a small horn.

Robert Siegrist, chicken hatchery manager, complained to the bus company that blasts from air horns killed his newly hatched chicks.

He said the chicks, frightened by the noise, rushed to one end of the brooder, trampling from three to five to death each time a bus horn sounded.

After 35 Years Apart—Wed

Willis W. Pressey, 80, and Flora E. Pressey, 78, were re-married after being separated by divorce for 35 years, when Mrs. Pressey went to Idaho to live and he went to Kansas. Their reunion was effected by their children, who brought them to Coalinga, Calif., where they are shown and where one of their sons, a justice of peace, performed the ceremony.

I Just Found Out About Reservoirs

More than 2,000,000 gallons of water can be stored in three big reservoirs here. But that's only half of a normal day's supply for Santa Ana's domestic use—and it would last only four hours during the parched summer months.

More than a billion gallons of water will go down Santa Ana drains and onto lawns and flower gardens this year, and it all will have come from gravel basins directly under the city, via seven big deep-well turbine pumps.

There's never a time when at least one of the seven pumps isn't running, though only in the early summer evenings are all of them being worked. Three are located in the city yard at 722 West Main street, two more are across from the city bowl at Sixth and Flower streets, and the other three are spotted at 902 North Olive street, at North Bristol and Santiago creek and at 916 West Walnut street.

Biggest "reservoir" in the city is the tower at Fourteenth and Poinsettia streets, which stretches 140 feet above the ground. Sixty feet high and 60 feet in diameter, the tank holds 1,000,000 gallons. Major use, however, is not to store water but to maintain pressure.

Because of the tank, a constant pressure of 75 pounds to the inch is maintained in the center of town. It varies all the way from 44 pounds at Oakmont and Santa Clara streets (elevation: 150 feet above sea level to 93 pounds at Main and Central streets (elevation: 50 feet). Central office is 105 feet above sea-level.

Four men, all located in the main plant on First street, comprise the city's pumping department, turn on and off each of the seven pumps by pressing a button at the main office. The four pumps located outside of the central plant are the last ones to be put in operation; they are used only to handle peak loads.

Peak, by the way is from 4 to 8 p. m. every day from June to September. That's when most of the lawn-watering is being done (and much of the dish-washing and bathing).

Though Santa Ana is fortunate enough to have a pure water supply, an additional precaution is taken by treating that in the $50,000-gallon reservoir at the central plant with both chlorine and ammonia (Chlorine is the purifier, ammonia just kills the taste and smell of the chlorine). Three pounds of chlorine and two pounds of ammonia currently are being used to treat a day's water supply of nearly 3,000,000 gallons.

Average day's water demand for the whole city, according to figures compiled by George A. Shippe, chief engineer for the water works, is about three and a quarter million gallons, though summer-time peaks have hit as high as six and a half million. That's been consumed as fast as $800 gallons a minute for as long as three hours (which would be more than 11,000,000 for a whole day).

His figures go farther, show that it costs between 16 and 19 cents to pump 1000 cubic feet of water, that a normal year's pumping cost is about $30,000. Pumping cost depends almost entirely on depth of the water level, is materially lowered during a wet year, upped when the season rainfall total falls below average (about 12 inches).

Water distribution is handled through 96 miles of underground pipe, ranging from two inches to 20 inches in diameter. The whole

WOMEN HAVE RIGHTS WITH MEN—CLAIM

LOS ANGELES (P)—The Pacific coast isn't doing its share toward repopulating the earth and reason, in the opinion of Dr. Paul Popenoe, is "competition of women with men."

Women have a right to compete with men if they want to," Dr. Popenoe, director of the Los Angeles Institute of Family Relations, told an American eugenics society meeting here last night, "but the two sexes should not be educated in such a way that they don't know how to do anything else."

"If women are trained only to compete with men, they are less likely to find husbands."

Dr. Popenoe described cities as "destroyers, not producers, of human beings." They survive, he said, because people brought up on farms migrate to them.

California cities, Dr. Popenoe declared, have the lowest rates of "net production" of any in the United States, San Francisco furnishing only 46 children of each 100 necessary to take the place of persons who die.

Other cities and the percentage of children produced by them of the total necessary to maintain their populations included: Pasadena, 51; Los Angeles, 53; Santa Monica, 56; Long Beach, 61; Glendale, 63; Santa Ana, 69; San Diego, 73; Alhambra and Bakersfield, 74; Riverside, 76.

Eight Speeders Fined By Court

Eight speeding fines and one for drunk driving highlighted yesterday's Santa Ana police court session.

Steele L. Price, 1401 West Third street, was committed to county jail in lieu of a $150 drunk driving fine, while Robert Blancher, Orange, led the parade of speeders and made arrangements to pay a $35 fine for allegedly traveling 70 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone at Santa Ana boulevard and the river bridge.

Other speeding fines: Rex W. Beach, Burbank (speeding and failure to appear), $15; Alfonso Vasquez, Costa Mesa, $8; Leonard A. Ross, Santa Ana, $8; Chalmers Coffman, Whittier, $6; William D. Vincent, Santa Ana, $6; Howard W. Faecon, Santa Ana, $6, and Charles D. Jurgen, Los Angeles, $5.

Rajah Restores Sum To Daughter

SINGAPORE (P)—Charles V. Brooke, white rajah of Sarawak, said today he had restored to his daughter, the Princess Baba, the $3000 annual allowance he stopped when she married the wrestler, Robert Gregory, last November.

Sir Charles said the allowance was cut for three months "but I did pay a great number of her bills. I bear nobody ill will and hope to see my daughter and her husband in England. I met Gregory last July but I was interested in him merely as a wrestler."

Gregory and his bride were said now to be in New York.

Exams To Be Held For State Jobs

Would you like a job with the state? If so, here's how: T. Gray Johnston, business manager of the Johnston Business Institute, announced today that state civil service examinations would be given on March 19, for the positions of junior account clerk, intermediate account clerk, and senior account clerk.

Tests are open to both men and women. Full information regarding the examinations can be secured at the institute.

OIL PRODUCTION

SACRAMENTO (P)—California oil and mineral production for more than $351,000,000 or an increase of 7 per cent over the previous year it was reported to Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

Mrs. Loretta Lytle, writes an interesting letter to this column as follows: "The Yorba Linda Townsend Club No. 1 held its semi-monthly meeting Monday evening, February 14, in the M. E. church social hall. The evening started off with a pot-luck supper followed by a musical program, which included the following: Evan Townsend and Jim Glover played several numbers on the guitar; Miss Cox rendered two delightful piano numbers; Evan Townsend playing the guitar was accompanied by the Hamner and Dollarhide boys on their harmonicas; Mrs. Loretta Lytle and Mrs. Leroy Grimm sang "When You Look Into the Heart of a Rose."

"Officers elected for the next six months were: Neffe Rennecker, president; W. L. Lytle, vice president; Loretta Lytle, secretary; and Mr. Shavener, treasurer. Those placed on the advisory board were: Leroy Grimm, M. E. Martin, Mr. Page, Bert Drake and Pat Ryan.

"Next Monday night the club will again meet in the M. E. church social hall and, starting at 7 o'clock, will serve a free oyster supper. A Townsend speaker will address the meeting after the sup-

EDEN STICKS BY HIS GUNS

LEAMINGTON (P)—Anthony Eden tonight declared his unshaken conviction in a policy of firmness toward Europe's dictators and said that "it is with the great democracies of Europe and America that our natural affinities lie."

Addressing his Warwickshire constituents, the former foreign secretary asserted his firm belief that Prime Minister Chamberlain's foreign policy—which caused Eden's resignation Sunday—would "fail to contribute to European appeasement."

But Eden dashed the hopes of the labor and liberal opposition that he might form the nucleus for an attack on the national government by declaring:

"The government has embarked on its course.

"They have decided to employ a certain approach to Anglo-Italian friendship. The decision has been made. Parliament has endorsed it."

"Very well. The government must then go ahead on the course which they have chosen and endeavor to carry it out. I desire now to say anything to make their task more difficult."

"On the contrary I most sincerely wish them success in their endeavors."

Eden said he would stand by history's verdict as to whether he or Chamberlain were right.

But he appealed at the same time for national conservative party unity.

Woman Injured In Car Crash

Mrs. Katherine D. Crumme, 70-year-old Redlands woman, was severely injured when cars driven by her husband, Safford A. Crumme, 70, Redlands, and H. B. Hutchinson, 37, Long Beach, collided at the intersections of state highways 171 and 183 eight miles north of Huntington Beach yesterday.

The two cars sideswiped head-on at 11:15 a. m., and both drivers escaped injury.

HIGHWAY BIDS

SACRAMENTO (P)—The state highway engineer will receive bids here March 9 for construction of a timber bridge with a concrete deck across Stemple creek, about one mile south of Tomales, Marin county.

REALTY MEN PLAN ROAD CONFAB

Moving to promote better transportation facilities between Orange county cities, the Santa Ana Realty board yesterday voted to invite realty boards of the coast cities to participate in a joint discussion of the highway problem.

The joint meeting will be particularly aimed at endorsement of the proposed Century highway to Los Angeles, but it was indicated other Orange county highway proposals probably will come up for discussion, including proposed extension of North Main street to Placentia and widening of West Seventeenth street.

The joint meeting was suggested by President Ray Goodcell, who will negotiate with the coast boards.

The realtors also will invite the city council to name a committee to meet with a realty board committee on the question of re-zoning certain city fire districts.

Semi-Annual Robbery Takes Place Early

CRESSON, Pa. (P)—The semi-annual robbery at H. P. Davis' haberdashery store was a bit early this year.

Usually, Davis told police, the robberies occur around Easter and Thanksgiving. This has been going on for 10 years.

But this time, he said, thieves took $1500 worth of merchandise instead of money. Davis expressed fear they planned to open a competitive store.

Hens "Gum-Shoed" Out of Coop

Still at large and still wearing tennis shoes, the burglar who stole 19 chickens from Curtice Case's ranch on Western avenue and a later entered a WPA project trailer-office early this week struck again last night.

This time he stole 64 Rhode Island Red chickens from Robert Goetz's ranch on East Lampton street, near Garden Grove. The sheriff's office found tennis shoe prints similar to those found near the other thefts, tentatively attributed the latest theft to the same person.

Church to Discuss Cure for Blues

Fourth in the series of lectures by Dr. Carl Sumner Knopf at the church last night at the First Methodist Episcopal church will be "Ezekiel—How to Cure the Blues." This lecture will be given next Wednesday at 6:45 p. m. at the church which is located at 317 East Sixth street.

Huge American Legion Rally Set for Costa Mesa

ALL POSTS IN COUNTY TO TAKE PART

Completion of Hall Expected Soon

COSTA MESA. — All American Legion posts of Orange county, as well as all ex-service men in the Harbor area, are to be guests of Costa Mesa American Legion post, 455, at the first meeting in the new Memorial hall, which is scheduled for March 21.

The structure is fast nearing completion, informal flag-raising ceremonies having been observed Sunday. At the regular meeting of the post, this week, the building committee was granted authority to borrow necessary funds to complete the hall which is being built through local sponsorship, county funds and WPA labor.

Upon completion, the building will be sufficiently large to accommodate any normal crowd, the floor area of 6000 square feet being but slightly smaller than that of the Santa Ana Legion hall.

PORT CLUBMEN HEAR OF WAR

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Major A. C. Parkins, retired army officer, gave Newport Harbor service club members an account of experiences in Germany as a prisoner of war at this week's meeting of the club.

The distinguished officer was in charge of a small group of men assigned to capture an important but small position. His men were almost wiped out and he was wounded after capturing the hill when they were literally overwhelmed by German reserves hurried to the scene, he said. His kindly treatment was a surprise, the speaker said.

Also present at the meeting was Harrison White, Scout executive of Orange county. Announcement of program committee for March was made as follows: Frank Crocker, chairman; Sidney H. Davidson, Horace E. Eng and E. E. Fitzpatrick, Professor MacGinitie, who has been away for some weeks in the hospital, was welcomed back. In the absence of President Heinz Kaiser, the meeting was in charge of Harry Welch.

ALOHA REBEKAH MEMBERS MEET

WESTMINSTER. — A meeting of the Aloha Rebekeh lodge was held Tuesday evening in the Odd Fellows hall in Westminster with about 75 representatives from all parts of the county attending.

Olive Patton, district deputy president, was present in her official capacity. Election of a new district deputy president was held with Mrs. Elizabeth Hall of Garden Grove being elected to serve for the next six months.

After the business meeting Mrs. Ruby Davis acted as hostess to the group in the banquet room. The next district meeting will be held at Orange March 7.

MRS. C. O. EDLING DIES AT 84

COSTA MESA. — Mrs. C. O. Edling, 84, died Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Shirley, 1900 Irvine avenue. The deceased, who had been confined to her bed for the past three years, was brought to Costa Mesa from Long Beach six months ago, by her daughter, Mrs. Shelby Kanagy, and since that time had been cared for in the Shirley home.

In addition to Mrs. Kanagy and Miss Celia Johnson of Balboa Island, Mrs. Edling is survived by four other daughters and one son.

Funeral services will be held Monday in Highland Park.

Beach Catholic Rites Slated

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — The Catholic church will begin the holy season of Lent next Wednesday March 2. "The Blessing of Ashes" and distribution ceremony will begin at St. Simons and Jude church at 8 a. m. A special sermon on "The Meaning of Lent" will be given Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock followed by benediction of the most blessed sacrament.

The services will be conducted every Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m., Friday evening during Lent.

U. S. A. Club Has Orange Session

ORANGE. — Mrs. Earl Crawford was hostess to the members of the U. S. A. club in her home on East Chapman avenue Friday afternoon. Two guests, Mrs. J. McAvoy and Mrs. Gwendolyn Thompson, attended. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. M. M. Fishback.

Present were Mesdames Jerry Young, H. A. Brown, Carl Young, Owen Murray, Henry Campbell, W. W. Perkins, Lucille Sutherland, Earl Wood, Alvin Cluff, Ernest Burns, Misses Luella Cutright and Bertha Younes.

MODEST MAIDENS

"My new boy friend's an explorer, so I wanna make him feel at home."

By BRICK GAINES
Weather: warmish. Either that or coolish.
Fishing: Lousy. Either that, or fair-to-middlin'.
Sailing: Kinda bumpy, probably.

Nice prospect, what? However, if this weather keeps up, there'll be lots of swimming which'll help some.

Desert winds, called "Santa Ana" winds everywhere but in Santa Ana, play queer tricks. Sometimes I've seen it happen, fishing suddenly gets good. Very, awful, colossal good. Even in the dead of winter. So, if you've a Spar: bonita feather around, and an unused boat, you might take a whack at it, about three or four miles out, and trolling fast. Be fun, unless she's too rough, and it shouldn't.

Heard tales of large tuna showing up lately? Me, too, but haven't seen any. They have been catching a few, however.

But nothing like one advertised by Lee Hutchings in Sam Meyer's Newport News.

"Tuna must be on their way in," he says proudly. "Noel Sands just landed a 300-pound beauty a mile and a half off Newport pier."

I'm hoping he made a mistake and added an extra cipher after "30." On account of, if anyone caught a 300-pound tuna in these parts, they'd close up the town for a whole week!

Remember, last fall, when someone caught a 140-pounder somewhere near Catalina? That set a record for the past 10 years. Who said 300 pounds, anyway?

Few scattering reports of yellowfin in the surf. Few, I said. Mussels and clams. Help yourself.

Speaking of swimming. And whales.

A story's told about Wilbur the Whale re-visiting Newport during the past week.

Wilbur visits every year.

He suffers from what Harry Welch calls whale's dandruff. It's barnacles, tangled all over the whale's exterior. To remove these critters, Wilbur annually goes down the coast and scratches his back on the seaweed, thus removing the itchy crustaceans.

However once the barnacles are gone, Wilbur becomes very, very friendly. He actually purrs.

A gang was swimming in the surf, just east of Balboa pier. They spied something large and bulky a little further out. They all swam out to see what it was.

Was, too, until the bulky thing turned out to Wilbur, about 50 feet of him. Or maybe it was 70. Anyway the mammoth animal unwound, let out a couple of snorts that sounded like the 515 comf'r round the bend, and lit off after the swimmers.

Making an alleged noise like a terrier which has just sniffed an extra good hamburger, Wilbur chased the swimmers clear to shore, spouting water much after the fashion of the fountain in the Orange plaza, only the water didn't change color, although the swimmers did.

Then, not content with scaring the daylight out of his friends, Wilbur took off after a purse sealer, which was merely looking for sardines.

Mistaking the monstrous mammal for an extra large sardine, the captain at first headed for the rambunctious critter, but a shout from shore stopped him just in time. He reversed everything just in time, and when last seen was heading around the east end of Catalina, with Wilbur playfully in pursuit.

Incidentally, most of the party which Wilbur chased ashore were

'COUNTY DAY' PLANNED BY NEWPORT

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Pointing out the value of closer cooperation between the various sections of Orange county, a group of chamber of commerce presidents and secretaries met Thursday noon at Newport-Balboa and agreed to work together and plan for a great gathering to be held annually under the slogan of "Orange County Day."

In order that every section may assist in planning the occasion and be represented in carrying out the affair, it was first agreed to invite all chambers of commerce and similar bodies to select three workers to attend a conference to be held shortly when all details of the proposed Orange County Day could be worked out.

For the purpose of calling the meeting and to have some suggestions ready for the consideration of the large meeting, the secretaries present at the Newport-Balboa meeting were instructed to prepare an outline for the event and tentatively a time about the middle of May was proposed for the occasion. That friendship be the theme was also mutually agreed upon. Everyone attending the session was enthusiastic on the idea and some very interesting views were advanced for carrying out the gathering.

Those attending the session were George Kellogg of Yorba Linda; Fred G. Merker and Howard I. Wood of Santa Ana; V. D. Johnson and J. J. Hutchins of Orange; George A. Fortis and John Jehle of Laguna Beach; Dr. Whitaker, F. E. Bundy and W. H. Gallenue of Huntington Beach; John A. Morgan and Harry C. Arthur of Anaheim; Allen Compton and Harry May of Fullerton; Walter S. Spiciler, Paul A. Palmer and Harry Welch of Newport-Balboa.

Following the luncheon meeting the party made a tour of Newport Harbor.

APPEAL MADE FOR CLOTHING

COSTA MESA. — An urgent appeal for shoes and clothing suitable for children of school age, and pre-school age, is being sent out by Mrs. Ward Pilley, welfare chairman of the Elementary schools P-T. A.

All available materials, states Mrs. Pilley, will be left at the main school office, or delivered at the P-T. A. meeting in the school auditorium, next Tuesday.

Missionaries To Talk At Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — The Rev. and Mrs. Ralph C. Cobb, missionaries to a cannibal tribe in the Belgian Congo, Africa, will be the speakers at the Four Square Gospel church Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Pictures of the native life, customs, jungles, and cannibals who were caught eating human flesh will be displayed by the Rev. Mr. Cobb.

Church Picture Slated Sunday

LAGUNA BEACH. — Many people have requested re-showing of the moving picture taken by W. Hershey depicting the step-by-step progress of building of the new addition to the Community Presbyterian church. The film shows work on the building since breaking of ground last fall until its recent dedication.

The committee has consented to re-show the film Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Community Presbyterian church.

Why didn't someone tell me I was running on like this? Gee, half the page is full already! However, we're glad to report good tidings from Lughie McMillan, who's still doing his fishing from a hospital bed. Feeling better, he writes.

Happy week-end, in spite of the weather!

"Admiral" Tom my Bouchee, harbor master at Newport in addition to other things, is still waiting for a boat to be admiral of, if you see what I mean.

His snappy harbor patrol boat is still on the ways, with mechanical surgeons peering into the motor of the power plant. Come springtime the fast craft will be ready for action.

Tommy also confirmed vague reports of many bonita being caught, pretty far out to sea. The fish're there, he swears.

Women have been barred for centuries from Mount Athos, a shrine on one of the Greek islands in the Aegean sea.

NOTED BEACH EXPLORER SUCCUMBS

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — Woodruff Mandeville, 27, died from an ailment believed to be the result of a tropical malady contracted while in China in a San Fernando hospital Thursday evening.

Mandeville spent his boyhood days in Huntington Beach with his mother, Mrs. Margaret Mandeville of 815 Acacia avenue. He has journeyed several times around the world seeking strange and out-of-the-way places. He caused considerable comment several years ago through his penetration of the upper Yangtze river in North China further than it had ever before been penetrated by a white man. Pictures and stories of his adventures were carried in national magazines for which he worked.

He became ill in China, was reported missing for some time and was brought home to Huntington Beach.

Funeral arrangements will be announced from Dixon's funeral parlor.

STATE WORK HEADS FETED

ANAHEIM. — Roy Ferguson manager, and C. Bert Allen, men's supervisor of the Orange county branch of the California State Employment service, were honor guests at a dinner last night in the Elks club in Anaheim by the members of the office force.

James Thomas, as master of ceremonies, introduced the professional speakers, Charles Fallert, assistant manager, introduced the guests.

Attending were Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bert Allen, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Cram, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kneeland, Mrs. Mabel Whitaker, Miss DeForest, Miss Nancy Herrington, Miss Frances Johnson, Mrs. Mary Pearce, Miss Dorothy Copeand, Shelby Kanagy, Robert Clay, Carter Kirven and E. J. Mackey.

GIRL SCOUTS HEAR ADDRESS

LAGUNA BEACH. — Members of the Laguna Beach Girl Scout organization and their mothers met in the Girl Scout Little House Thursday afternoon to hear an address by Harriet Williams Myers, state president of the Audubon society, Mrs. Roy Ropp, commissioner, introduced the speaker, who gave an interesting talk on nature.

The lecture was illustrated by a moving picture, operated by Mr. Van Loden, showing pictures of every species of bird found in California. Mrs. Myers urged observance of Conservation week, which opens March 7.

Tea was served with Mrs. Lynn Simmons, chairman of the luncheon committee, pouring. She was assisted by Mrs. Emil Wickman, Mrs. Ajax Wolf and Mrs. Curtis Ware.

HOME-MAKING WORKERS MEET

MIDWAY CITY. — Members of the Midway City Homemakers, under the direction of Miss Frances Liles, met in the Woman's clubhouse Thursday and not only learned to prepare interesting family breakfasts but were privileged to eat the breakfast menu at the noon hour.

Attending were Mrs. Ray Sues, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Nels Nelson, Mrs. William Appling, Mrs. J. A. Walker, Mrs. F. L. Murphy, Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mrs. J. A. Houlihan, Mrs. Holly, Mrs. E. L. Kirkham, Mrs. Wade Enoch, Mrs. W. E. Moore, Mrs. C. M. Decker, Mrs. S. H. Aiken and Mrs. William Scholte.

Noting Newport sailor, Bill Baxter in "Stormy," tied Wageforth for second place. And Commodore William A. Bartholomae of the Newport Harbor Yacht club sailed that beautiful "Yucca" to a six-meter victory over Orchestra Leader Raymond Paige's "Prelude."

CHURCH TOPICS ANNOUNCED

WINTERSBURG. — The Rev. George A. Quayle, pastor of Wintersburg Methodist church, will use as the topic for the Sunday morning service, "Wesley's Emphasis on Religion."

In the evening there is to be a concert of sacred music given by various organizations and soloists of the church, with a group of intermediate students to be presented in several numbers under the direction of Mrs. Grace E. Groves.

Relief Corps Members Meet

WESTMINSTER. The William A. Smalley Relief corps met in the Odd Fellows hall this week with members dressing in the costumes of Martha Washington period.

Mrs. Floy Hilborn of Barber City was accepted as a new member and an old-time dance was planned and announced for March 11 in the Odd Fellows hall in Westminster. A travelling prize went to Mrs. Estella Arnett.

Orange Children's Orchestra Gives First Public Concert

ORANGE. — The children's symphony orchestra of the Orange Elementary schools gave its first concert Friday night in the intermediate school under the direction of the teacher of instruments, W. G. Axworthy, and sponsored by the Orange Community council of the P-T. A.

Proceeds were divided between the orchestra and the P-T. A., the latter specifying that its portion would be used for welfare work, according to the president, Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim.

The program featured piano solos by Alice Imamoto, Japanese child prodigy, and two playlets given by sixth grade pupils under the direction of Fred Wiley. Members of the cast of the first production included Betty Hawkins, Wila Proll, Ralph Wood, Sam Denny and Leonard Crofoot.

In the cast of the latter play were Virginia Hayes, Jack Wilber, Clifford Johnson, Robert Worden, Angel Watson and Alvin Ingraham.

P-T. A.'s sponsorship committee who assisted in the affair were Mesdames Wallace Crane, A. E. Sipherd, Wilbur Nave, Elmer Barr, L. A. Bortz, C. B. Redmon, Owen Smith, Walter Fairbairn and Otto Linnartz.

News About El Toro Folks

By MRS. CARRIE G. DREWS

Last Saturday, the El Toro school's "B" team played its final game in basketball tournament with San Clemente, winning 13 points, the game being 23-10.

El Toro also won the silver trophy for this season, with the San Juan Capistrano, Irvine, Serra, San Clemente and Mission schoolboys. Our players were Teddy Prothro, Joe Tstariz, Lewie Etcheberry, Frank Ertotta, Tom Adame and Joe Barreca. All the games were played at the San Juan Capistrano High school gymnasium.

John Osterman of Santa Ana, formerly of El Toro, was taken home from the hospital Thursday afternoon. Although his leg is still in a cast, he is resting very comfortably.

A. Scott, father of Charlie Scott, was taken to his bed early this week but is now reported a little better in every way. His grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Clair A. Scott of Arizona and Gerald Scott of Los Angeles, came home.

James McGinnis was taken to the hospital Thursday and expects to remain there for a short time. He is making his home with the Robert Thomas family.

Mrs. May Stevens and two small daughters left Wednesday morning for the desert with Mrs. Anna Cook of Anaheim, where they will

"I'm afraid I can't tell you much," she answered. "A lot of monks started dancing around me at the Albert Hall. One of them picked me up, and then something pricked my arm and I lost consciousness. When I came to I was lying on a sofa in here, and a man dressed like a monk was looking helplessly at the window. Then the door bell rang, and I turned my head and . . . and saw Uncle Vincent."

She blinked. A tear trickled slowly down her nose and dropped down to the front of her dress. Crying did not make her look ugly; it only made her look helpless and child-like. Inspector Kennedy felt very sorry for her indeed.

"And then, Miss Little?" he asked sympathetically.

"—I think I was going to scream, but the monk caught hold of my wrists and shook me and said: 'You are not to, or something like that.' I said, 'You've killed him,' and he said, 'No, I haven't.' Then he picked up the knife and wiped it, and ran out of the room. I ran out of the room, too, to try to get help for my uncle, and saw Mr. Lawson and the policeman lying on the pavement."

"I suppose you've no idea who this monk was?" asked the inspector.

She hesitated, putting her hand to her head as if it pained her.

"No. At least . . . no, I don't know who he was. But . . . something like that, I seem a bit familiar," she answered.

"Oh! You know the man's voice vaguely, but can't give a name to him?" said the inspector shrewdly. "That seems to suggest that it was somebody you've met but don't know very well. Think hard, Miss Little. Try to remember. Whose voice was it?"

There was a long pause. Elsa sat in a rather huddled position staring at nothing. Occasionally a tear ran down her face and trickled on to her dress. She did not want to think. She wanted to cry. She could imagine a greater luxury than simply being alone and crying to her heart's content.

She wished these people wouldn't make her think. Perhaps if she could think of the man's name quickly they would leave her alone. One after another the names of men she knew passed through her mind, but that voice did not seem to fit any of them.

"Think of all the men you know whose names begin with A. Then think of all those beginning with B, and so on through the alphabet," suggested the inspector.

Again there was a pause. Adamson, Arlington, Ainsworth, Barrington, Barton, Borisoff—a host of names passed one after the other through Elsa's mind. Every now and then, in the midst of the G's or J's she would think of another C or E; it was amazing how the number of names she knew, Lawson, Lavertree, Lee-Ramsden, Lessing . . . Mackintosh, Madder-shaw . . .

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Lawson was kind and efficient. He took Elsa to the kitchen and insisted on making her coffee for her, while the policeman dealt with the murder. The policeman did not waste time looking for clues or asking questions. When he was sure that Mr. Little was dead, he simply locked the room in which the murder had been committed and telephoned to his superiors.

Twenty minutes later another car drove up to the house containing two detectives, a camera-man and a police doctor. The leader of the detectives introduced himself as Inspector Kennedy of Scotland Yard.

He was obviously one of the new, public-school type of detectives. In appearance he was a tall, lean man, 34 or 35, dressed in a good tailor. His features were regular and good-looking, his dark eyes were a little sleepy, his hands were well cared for.

There was nothing brusque or bullying in his methods; his manner was civil and his voice well modulated. "Where was about him rather the appearance of an army man on leave. That appearance did not altogether belie him. Before joining the police he had for three years held a short service commission in the R. A. F. He seemed to know exactly what to do."

The study was examined, photographs were taken, and the doctor made his examination of the body. Then Inspector Kennedy began to ask questions.

To begin with he obtained Lawson's story, which, on the face of it, appeared to be quite simple and straightforward. Lawson stated that Elsa had been missed from the Albert Hall when the film stars were due to be introduced; that he had made inquiries for her and learnt that she had last been seen being carried toward the door by a party of black monks; that he had rung up Mr. Little, and that Mr. Little had announced his intention of calling in the police.

He had then driven to Mr. Little's house in his car, and had seen a constable on the door-step. He had been about to join the constable, when the door had suddenly opened and a man dressed in monk's costume had emerged and attacked him.

Taken by surprise he had been knocked out before he had time to defend himself. He had recovered consciousness to find Elsa bending over him. He and the constable and Elsa had entered the house, and he had seen Mr. Little's body lying on the floor of the study with a knife near it. That was all he knew.

The inspector's assistant took down this story in a note-book. The inspector turned to Elsa.

"I'd like to have your story now, Miss Little," he said.

Elsa was looking pale and ill. The shock of her uncle's death on top of the effects of the drug which had been given to her at the Albert Hall, had left her dazed and hardly able to concentrate. The contrast between her Queen of Hearts costume and pale face and sad eyes made her look extremely helpless and pathetic. Inspector Kennedy felt

WRIGHT

Reserving the right to change his mind after seeing Santa Ana's Dons for the first time tonight, Harry Griffith, Riverside Jay-sees varsity basketball coach, has made public his all-Eastern conference team. Chet Katka, San Bernardino's high scorer, and Frank Wells of Riverside are placed at forward. The conference's leading scorer, Bob Doll of Chaffey with 92 points in five games, is given the nod at center. The guards are Harold Rickert of Riverside and Earl Allison of Elberton. Santa Ana is the only team Griffith has not seen, and Riverside gets a crack at Blanchard Beatty's Dons at Riverside tonight. Cyril (Call Me Cy) Leivermann, towering center who is tied for second-place scoring with 62 points, may impress the Bengal coach.

His players merit consideration, but Griffith cannot be accused of modesty in naming two of his own players on the first string. After all, Riverside is buried in fifth place.

While on the subject of basketball, it is interesting to note an experiment conducted by two De Pauw university professors in Indiana who, by means of a miniature court, have proved (or so they claim) that the average player runs four miles each game under the present rules, whereas he traveled from 2.25 to 2.5 miles when the center jump was in effect.

Fashion note: 'Tis said Montgomery Ward's entry in the Santa Ana City League softball game will receive new uniforms that will surpass the Elks' brilliant purple in flashiness.

Touching all bases: With the fans' knowledge of rugby lacking in Santa Ana, it might be wise for junior college officials to bill their games free until the public becomes better acquainted with the fast English sport. If a game clicks before a large crowd, it should continue to draw. . . College wrestling usually is victim of a "what-of-it" attitude on the part of sports fans, but a crowd of 160 saw a dual match between Kansas State and Oklahoma this season. . . Basketball players make good ends in football, in the opinion of the Arkansas U. grid coach, Fred Thomsen. "A basketball player gets more practice handling the ball in one game than a football player does all season." There will be no fame in Santa Ana Jaysee football next season. There is no better authority for this than Coach Bill Cook, who believes prospects will be as rosy as the 37 season which resulted in a co-championship with San Bernardino's classy Indians.

SEABISCUIT RACES ANEROID; STAGEHAND RUNS IN 'CAP

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Seabiscuit, Charles S. Howard's handicapper star of 1937, ruled a top favorite today as a field of eligibles for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap headed postward for the running of the San Antonio handicap and its sizeable purse of $7500.

Chief challengers to Seabiscuit appeared to be J. A. Manfuso's Aneroide, E. K. Bryson's Calumet Dick and Frank Carrozzini's veteran Time Supply, only horse on the grounds which has run every one of the $100,000 handicaps.

Jockey S. O. Workman was signed to ride the 'Biscuit in the horse's first start since last November—and his last one before the rich race a week from today. The stable was determined to run Seabiscuit today, even if the weather should turn bad, because the 5-year-old needs a race. Seabiscuit had worked out brilliantly, and his handlers were confident he would run well, but the notable case of Tiger, the Milky Way farm's colt, in last Tuesday's $50,000 derby, was called to mind. Tiger had not run in a race until the Derby and showed the effects of the long lay-off.

Saints Win 39-32 Thriller From Pomona

CITRUS BELT TITLE GOES TO REDLANDS

Ross Barnes' Shot Annexes Soph Tilt

With Redlands' Terriers installed as Citrus Belt league champions as the result of their 28-18 win over Chaffey last night, Santa Ana High school's basketball players had their eyes focused on third place in 1938 standings today.

Coach Koegler's Saints, playing heads-up ball and guilty of only a few bad passes, outpointed Pomona's Red Devils, 39 to 32, in a varsity thriller here last night. They can finish with a .500 rating by defeating San Bernardino here next Friday.

TWAY, O'CAMPO 'HOT'
Maurice Young, guard, tossed in a charity shot to open the scoring for the Saints, but Pomona jumped into a 7-1 lead before the Koegler preps could find the basket again. Larry Tway, clever guard who shared scoring laurels with Gene O'Campo with 11 points, tossed in a field goal and Melvin Barron a tip-in shot as the Saints came from behind with a rush and finished the first quarter leading, 11-8.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle in the second quarter, with Pomona gaining an 18-17 edge. The Saints, on Barron's tip-in shot, soon forged ahead, 20-19, and made it 22-19 on O'Campo's difficult one-handed shot from side-court. Tway's long shot and Partridge's short-range toss enabled the Saints to gain a 26-23 lead at the end of the third quarter. O'Campo opened the fourth period with a field goal, 28-23. Barron's tip-in made it 30-25 at one interval. Field goals by O'Campo, Partridge and Barron in a closing rush put the game on ice.

GUY HARVEY'S SOPH CAGERS WIN, 17-16
Ross Barnes, flashy forward of the Santa Ana High sophomores, could have a date with just about any co-ed of his school today—surely anyone who saw him toss in a long field goal in the last few seconds last night to give Guy Harvey's Saints a thrilling 17-16 victory over the Pomona lights.

He shared scoring honors with teammate, Sorenson. Lineups:

POLO ACES VIE AT MIDWICK
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—With two of its members temporarily out of action, the old Westbury polo team from Long Island, N. Y., was slated to ride against Hollywood's Los Indios quartette in the second match of a series tomorrow at the Midwick Country club.

C. V. (Sonny) Whitney and Stewart Igelhart, the latter a 10-goal man, were to be on the side lines, but Cecil Smith, another 10-goal shark, and Charles Wrightman were ready to bear the brunt of old Westbury's attack.

Trainer Earl Sande decided not to run Sceneshifter in the San Antonio, figuring the horse was in fine shape off his last effort, the victorious one—and would be ready for the big race March 5.

Sande, trainer for Maxwell Howard, disclosed after a telephone talk with his boss, Maxwell Howard, in Florida, that Stagehand, winner of the $50,000 derby, would next run with Sceneshifter in the Santa Anita handicap.

Seabiscuit, with Workman riding him for the first time was assigned top weight of 130 pounds, the same package he will carry in the Santa Anita Aneroide, and would next high weighted at 118, with Calumet Dick at 116. Today, Neil McCarthy's hope in the big race, drew 110, while Time Supply, which finished strong but sixth to Pompon in the San Carlos last week, got in at 114. Workman's ride on Seabiscuit was watched with interest. The 'Biscuit's regular pilot, Red Polard, received a broken collar bone in a spill last week, and Workman may get to take the leading contender to the post in the Santa Anita.

Three-in-a-Row For Consistent Patty Berg

PATTY BERG'S GOLF GAME IMPROVING

By TOM PAPROCKI
Associated Press Writer
It's Patty Berg's year, if you listen to friends of the flaming-haired Minneapolis golfer's season.

Miss Berg is reluctant to discuss her chances in the women's national this summer. "I'll probably be lucky if I qualify," was the way she tossed it off when queried.

There is, however, a quiet confidence in the manner of the little girl that belies her modesty. And the way she battled through to win three successive tournaments indicates she is strictly on her game.

"This is the happiest day of my life," she announced when handed the Miami Biltmore women's trophy, after her most recent conquest. It marked her third consecutive triumph in this tournament, as well as her third straight of the winter season. She also won titles at Augusta, Ga., and Punta Gorda, Fla.

It will not be an over-gilded Patty who invades the Illinois area for this year's women's national at Westmoreland. Gone are the tournament-a-week days. Miss Berg intends playing occasional tournaments and a few exhibitions, but there will be no more rush and hurry to take in all the meets she can reach. "I don't want to lose my taste for golf," she explained. "I don't think I could, but I don't want to take that chance."

There is no doubt that Miss Berg loves her golf. Her eyes sparkle when she discusses it, and, despite all her victories, she honestly thinks she is lucky every time she wins. On the other hand, experts, including big-time pros like Ralph Guldahl, national open titleholder, and Denny Shute, P.G.A. king, members of the Miami Biltmore Country club staff, will tell you candidly that diminutive Patty is, day in and day out, the most consistent feminine golfer in America. True, they admit, she gets beaten, but she's a fighter. She's at her best when she's behind. And these boys don't talk through their hats.

POETS CAPTURE CAGE CROWN

WHITTIER. (AP)—Whittier college today held the Southern California college conference basketball title.

Led by brilliant Leland Woodward, their center, the Poets clinched the title last night by defeating Occidental college, 47 to 35. Woodward was high scorer with 18 points.

Luisetti May Break Cage Record Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Stanford and California will clash at Berkeley next Friday night for the championship of the southern division of the Pacific Coast conference, provided they duplicate victories over their respective opponents tonight.

The traditional athletic rivals remained tied for the division lead today. California knocked over the Southern California Trojans, 49 to 40, at Los Angeles last night while Stanford trounced U. C. L. A. at Palo Alto, 53 to 31.

Stanford's forward Angelo (Hank) Luisetti appeared certain to break the national four-year scoring record of 1531 points held by Glen Roberts of Emory-Henry college, Virginia. Luisetti scored 22 points last night, bringing his total to 1512. He has two more games in which to tally 19 points.

Guard Ray Harris' successful free throw with 25 seconds to play gave University of Nevada, leader of the Far Western conference, a hotly-contested 42 to 41 triumph over the California Aggies of Davis at Reno, Nev.

College of the Pacific clinched second place in Far Western conference standings by defeating Fresno State college, 51 to 47, at Stockton. Pacific would be tied with Nevada for the conference lead should Nevada lose to the Cal Aggies tonight.

MALOTT OF FULLERTON RUNS 440 IN NEW YORK TONIGHT

NEW YORK. (AP)—Presenting 21 world champions in a field recruited from 22 states, the indoor track and field season reaches its high-spot tonight in the national championships at Madison Square Garden.

Every event on the usual 16-event program has drawn a colossal collection of contenders for national titles, with the outstanding features based on Glenn Cunningham's efforts to take the 1500-meter crown away from Archie San Romani, and slim Jim Herbert's crack at the 600-meter.

This latter race, bringing together outstanding performers at the distance from coast to coast, gets top billing. Herbert, winner of nine straight races this season, is favored, but he has his work cut out for him against such runners as Wes Wallace of Fordham, his only conqueror this winter; Ray Malott, Stanford's 400-meter champion; Charles Beetham, the ex-Ohio State star, and Doug Raymond, Boston university ace. (Malott is a former Fullerton athlete.)

LOUIS LAUDED BY REFEREE ART DONOVAN

'Has Greatest Left Jab I've Ever Seen'

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK. (AP)—One of the most enthusiastic men in town about the new and matured Joe Louis is Referee Arthur Donovan, a man whose opinion rates more than with a respect.

Donovan has handled every heavyweight fight of importance here in recent years, including Max Schmeling's knockout of Louis, Tommy Farr's 15-round rough-house with the champion and Louis' three-round kayo of the impetuous Natie Mann Wednesday night.

He says that Joe now is very close to the super-fighter that excited fight writers and bedazzled ringsters thought he was two years ago. Donovan has been in there close with the big negro. It's obvious he thinks Joe will reverse the score on Schmeling next June.

"He's got about everything now," he said, when asked for his very best opinion. "Principally, he has the greatest left jab I've ever seen. Honestly, it's terrific. The first time he reached out and stabbed Mann with it I heard Natie's nose crack. He could knock some good men out with it in time, and it would cut anyone to ribbons in 15 rounds."

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's voluble manager, was at the same time assuring a neighboring group that "Louie still is a sucker for a right. Look how Mann batted him around with a right."

"I'm not so sure about that," said Donovan. "Joe has learned a lot about keeping away from a right, and I can see it. Mann caught him by surprise with a couple, but he'll be watching out for Schmeling."

"When they fought the first time, Louis had been popping over a lot of fellows with that left hook, thrown from any distance and any angle. He had been missing a lot of them and leaving himself smart wide open, but nobody was smart enough to take advantage of it until Schmeling came along."

Now, he's much more cautious with a right. Against Mann, if you noticed, he didn't throw his left until the second round, when he was in close and had a target he knew he couldn't miss. In other words, Schmeling doubtless will hit him with rights, but not like the ones he landed in their first fight, when he was crossing over Joe's missed lefts and catching him flush, coming forward.

Engelman, Dresser, Piper, Elliott Cop Saint Trials

Tom Engelman and Larry Dresser ran a dead heat in a 15.9 sec. flight of 120-yard high hurdles in track trials at Santa Ana High school yesterday. Jack Clark was third, Jim O'Connell fourth.

Wayne Piper won a 11.2 sec. "100" with Howard Elliott, Bob Kelchner and Dick Stein finishing in the order named. Jerome Duffy was first in a 11.4 century ahead of Don Warhurst, Dalton Lutz and Byram Bates.

Howard Elliott won the 220 in 23 flat, with Piper second, Warhurst third and Bill Hemmen fourth. Kelchner and Dick Ladimore trailed.

The Saints begin their interclass meet at Poly field Monday. Seven events will be run off by Coach Reece Greene.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK. (AP)—Some fight managers we know could tell interesting if not amazing stories of how a certain young heavyweight is being built up. . . Every ball and strike thrown by pitchers trying out for the Michigan State college baseball team is tabulated by Coach John Kobs. . . Joe Medwick will be back in the Cardinal fold within two weeks. . . Alabama is said to have "out-talked" Georgia in recent "conferences" with an end named Burt from Macon, Ga., who already has moved to Tuscaloosa.

Don't forget that back in the summer of 1936, wise old Jack Blackburn said Joe Louis would not reach his peak for two years. . . So watch out, Mr. "Smellin'" (as Joe would say). . . When asked about the non-signing of Lou Gehrig, Joe McCarthy winked and said: "well, we haven't rep'd to St. Pete yet?" . . . Which is the tip-off, boys. . . Same goes for "Der Meg". . . Jimmy Braddock's new wining and dining spot will open in a month. . . The Olsen Redheads pro basketball team is negotiating for Mildred Campbell, Charlotte (N. C.) High school sensation who scores 30 and 32 points in a game just like nothing had happened. . . Spurgeon Chandler, young Yankee hurler, has sent back two unsigned contracts.

Out in Wisconsin, Whitewater State Teacher's college has a new way of letting the boys and their co-ed friends know how the athletic teams fared on the road. . . The tall college tower in the middle of the campus, which can be seen for miles around, is lighted up like a torch when the athletes come through the door of White-water. . . Virtually the whole town turns out to see what has happened. . . Fan wants to know what happened to Fred Apostoli on the coast the other day. . . Well, the young man seems to have been licked.

Tustin Double Winner Over L.B. Poly Fives

Basketball fans refuse to count Bill Cole's Tustin Tilters out of the C. I. F. playoffs.

Tustin, marking time until a second-round game with Montebello next Friday night at Tustin, scored a double victory over Long Beach Poly of the Coast league in practice basketball at Tustin last night. The Tilters reserves won, 26-24, and the varsity, 28-23. They defeated Orange in the first round of the C. I. F. playoffs by the unusual score of 10-8.

Northern Quintets Near 'Show-Down'

SEATTLE. (AP)—The Washington Huskies were still in the northern division basketball race today, retaining their slender chance for a title tie with a 42 to 24 victory over Montana, scored in a ragged game last night.

The two teams meet again tonight, but interest centers in the game at Pullman, where the league-leading W. S. C. Cougars tangle with the Idaho Vandals, tumbled to third place by two defeats by Oregon. Oregon meets Oregon State at Eugene. The second-place Oregon Ducks need a victory to maintain their standing.

The same team that came to life after two early season defeats by Fullerton and Chaffey will carry the hot ticket Santa Ana attack tonight. Cy Leivermann, who has scored 63 points in league games, will be the spearhead, backed by Charles (Chuck) Hall who has netted 50 points and Art Heinisch. The guards will be Lynn Arnett and Kenneth Marshall.

DON FIFTEEN DRAWS WITH PASADENANS

All-Star Game Due At Bowl March 19

Ten clubs, representing the cream of Southern California rugby, will furnish talent for an all-star game, one of the season's most outstanding attractions, to be played in the Municipal bowl March 19, it was learned today from Ward Nash, secretary of the Southern California Rugby union.

Arrangements for the big attraction were completed at last night's game which resulted in a 0-0 deadlock between Santa Ana Junior college and the unbeaten Pasadena Majors.

Secretary Nash of Los Angeles announced a team will be selected from U. S. C. U. C. L. A. Santa Barbara State and Santa Ana Jay-sees to go up against another all-star combination picked from the six "club" teams—Pasadena Majors, Hollywood A. C., Spollers, A. C., Golden State, Santa Barbara A. C. and the U. S. C. Spartans.

Last night's games produced the third tie in four games for the Dons. In the first half, Danny Boyd barely missed two angled penalty kicks which would have been good for three points and another in the second period. At the end of the first half, the Dons were scrambling around five yards from the Majors' goal and twice the invaders were forced to line out on their goal with the Dons unable to shove the ball across. At the start of the second half the Dons had a lineout on the Majors' goal but missed by less than a foot in getting a try which would have netted three points.

The forwards' aggressive offensive and defensive play kept the Majors in trouble a good share of the game. Bill Semmacher, Carl Benson, Tommy Anderson, Jerry Nesmith, Grant Keller, Glen Cave, Bob Faul and Bill Twist performed in fine style.

Of the backs, Fred Kobayashi, Danny Boyd and John Joseph were standouts but received good support from Bob Pannell, Larry Timken, Harold Tucker and Bill Wilson.

DONS INVADE RIVERSIDE
Knocked out of the running for second place by Chaffey's 47-33 defeat of San Bernardino last night, Santa Ana Junior college's Don cagers will be shooting for undisputed possession of third place in the Eastern conference basketball standings at Riverside tonight. The teams clash at 8 o'clock.

Fullerton's Hornets, who went undefeated through the league season with six victories, will meet Chaffey next week in a two-out-of-three playoff series for the championship.

The same team that came to life after two early season defeats by Fullerton and Chaffey will carry the hot ticket Santa Ana attack tonight. Cy Leivermann, who has scored 63 points in league games, will be the spearhead, backed by Charles (Chuck) Hall who has netted 50 points and Art Heinisch. ## FIGHTS

CHICAGO. — Henry Armstrong, 132½, Los Angeles, world feather-weight champion, stopped Everett Rightmire, 130, Sioux City, Ia., non-title (3).

Gallery, studying his own ideas, thought there might be a lot of people who would like to see a man sail through the air on the things, but not to the extent that they would drive up a mountain, slush around in the cold all day and come home with wet feet and the sniffles.

He argued that skiing could be enjoyed with all the comforts of summer—and $1.10 for general admission. If they really like to climb mountains, that can be easily arranged. All they have to do is plod up the steps to the top of the Coliseum.

SHARPSHOOTING SANTA ANITA

By FRANK FISKE

This day, Saturday, comes around at the race track every week just as inevitably as the eighth race comes around every day and it presents the same problem. If you can pick winning horses out of an eighth race on a Saturday card your home is in Heaven and you might just as well go in for bigger game—like the stock market for instance.

They'll never rule us off for trying, though, and here's the usual effort for the—
First. . . The stable is going to try to lay them to the land with BONILUNA and, if you ask me, they've picked a nice spot. QUEL JEU is about ready to rub the sleep out of his eyes and LITTLE ARGO is right competent at the moment.

Second. . . Rake it in or shovel it out, it's the same old stuff they're accustomed to tout. You're sure to win if you have the luck or lose it all like a regular sucker. BROOK—DANFIELD.
Third. . . See the sunrise in the afternoon with DAY DAWN. The back drop will be composed of CHIANA and PHLOX.

Fourth. . . Once I get an idea in my head it takes more than a series of losses to force it out. I still insist on TORCHY and think he can very neatly best LAST LAY and KUMREIGH.
Fifth. . . In this race I'll have to abandon my usual custom of trying to pick a long shot for you. Much as I would like to name something to beat the short-priced BLACK HIGHEROW I can't do it. Bet your two bucks and take what you can get with gratitude.

SKI MEET WILL DRAW CRACK FIELD TO COLISEUM SUNDAY

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—It verges on heresy to talk about it, but Memorial coliseum in the heart of Los Angeles, a place that has never, never seen real snow, will be the scene of a ski jumping contest Sunday.

Once, a few years ago, transplanted Easterners swore they saw snow in the Coliseum, but the local chamber of commerce hastily explained that the stuff was merely some strange white matter, possibly blown down from San Francisco, and the ugly rumor was squelched.

The ski-jumping affair is a fact, however, with "man made snow" sprayed out of an ice machine. The supplying of the Coliseum with a steel skeleton slide has been erected, towering above one end of the Coliseum, where no football fan wants to sit, and gilding gracefully down into the pit.

'FOLLIES' NOW AT BROADWAY

A stellar talent is assembled in Samuel Goldwyn's engagement today at the Broadway theater with "Scandal Sheet."

The cast, headed by Adolphe Menjou, the Ritz Brothers, Andrea Leeds, Ella Logan, Jennie Cowan and the Gorgious Goldwyn Girls. The producer of "The Goldwyn Follies" secured radio's Edgar Bergen, ("Charlie McCarthy"), Phil Baker and Kenny Baker grand opera's Helen Jepson and Charles Kullmann and the dancer's Zorina and George Balanchine's American Ballet and the musical stage's favorite comedian, Bobby Clark.

"The Goldwyn Follies" marks Goldwyn's swing to the color standard. The story, a comedy of Hollywood from the pen of Ben Hecht, casts Menjou as a film producer out of touch with his public who hires a typical American girl, Andrea Leeds, to tell him what the public wants.

Selected short subjects include a color cartoon, "Cleaning House" and World News events.

Ickes Wants Fund To Get Himself In U.S. Papers

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Ickes wants $50,000 for a new publicity division for his department, which he says "cannot hope to make the front page for a long time to come."

He made the request at hearings on the interior department appropriation bill, approved by the house appropriations committee.

When Representative Rich (R., Pa.) asked him whether "we are going to have the same propaganda in your department that is now going on in the department of agriculture, Ickes retorted:

"No, I do not think we could ever be so expert."

Ickes explained that the $50,000 would be for an information division.

Shasta Dam Work To Start Soon

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Published hearings of the house appropriations committee disclosed that the reclamation service was considering a plan which would permit the start of construction of Shasta Dam, unit of the Central Valley project in California, early in the fiscal year beginning next July.

Reclamation Commissioner Page, appearing before the committee in support of a $9,000,000 appropriation for the project in 1939, explained the plan involved detouring tracks of the Southern Pacific Railroad company past the dam site via a short tunnel.

In the meantime, negotiations could continue with the company for a permanent settlement.

Negros Demand Place In Navy

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Manning a battleship entirely by negro officers and enlisted men has been suggested to the navy department in a series of letters from negro organizations.

The letters advance the argument that there are 12,000,000 negroes in the United States that they should be given representation in the navy, and that if their employment alongside white men is not practicable they should be given a ship of their own.

Synthetic Gas May Pay, Congress Told

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Congress learned today that synthetic gasoline from bituminous coal probably could be manufactured commercially at a cost of between 15 cents and 25 cents a gallon.

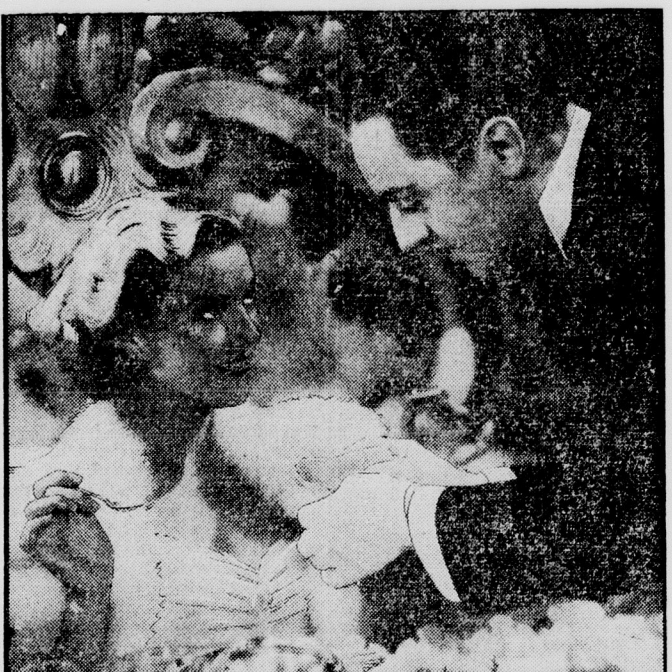

A. C. Fieldner, chief of the technology branch of the bureau of mines, made the statement, based on experiments, during a house appropriation subcommittee consideration of the 1939 interior department appropriation bill.

Goldwyn Follies Cast

Baroness and Butler

DEBS DUPED BY SCOTTY Death Valley Midas Explains

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Thirty-five debutantes of California pioneer families, caught and quizzed the famous Midas desert rat, Death Valley Midas.

They placed the 62-year-old, blue-eyed mystery man on the witness stand. It was an overworked easy chair. Spreading themselves in a circle on the floor around him, they bent their eager, youthful energies to ferreting out secrets which have mystified the world years before these girls were born.

For several years this group of socially elite, serious-minded debutantes, each week have had before them for intellectual dissection some notable visitor in the Southland.

The secretive burro man, who says he has spent $8,000,000 since the Tonopah gold field rush, and built a $2,381,000 castle in Death Valley, beamed and told stories of fascinating adventures.

"Where is your gold mine?" quizzed one of the girls.

"On a bluff in the desert," the cagey prospector replied.

"Why did you build the castle?"

"Wal, I knew Bill Rogers 40 years, long ago, when he was a cowboy. One time up in the castle he asked that question. 'I'll tell you, Bill,' I sez, 'when you die there'll be something all over from Hollywood asking people each to contribute $100 for a monument. But, Bill, this is mine, the castle. This monument oughta last a thousand years.'"

"What do you do in the castle?"

"Don't you get thrills all the time about it?"

"Wal, pal, you ain't married, are yuh?"

"You will be getting underway some day and spend a couple of years working hard to catch the feller. Then, after you're hitched, some day you'll wake up and look at him that asleep and ask yourself, 'why did I work like a mule for this?'"

"That's the way with me and the castle. It's there and I just don't pay much attention to it."

The girls served tea.

"Why do you do the sensational things you do?" asked Miss Joine Alderman.

"Why do you kiss the feller you like?" the desert rat shot back.

Scotty always has the trigger-quick mental drop on anyone he is with. Before she realized it, Miss Alderman replied:

"Because I like to—oh my, I'm always making breaks!" she added in confusion.

"You got it, that's it," Scotty said consolingly.

"Tell us all about your castle, it is so thrilling," said Yvette Wilcox, hostess.

"Wal, girls, I'll tell ya while you eat. I spent 40 years a-plannin' and a-bidin' it. I should be spending the rest of my life talking about it. You're all welcome to come up and see it. I'll feed and water you."

The desert rat spent several hours reeling off stories, from the time of his record breaking dash to Chicago in a chartered train in 1905 up to the present.

And he left the girls more mystified than when he stepped into their curious circle.

Pilot Blamed in Fatal Crash

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The body of Thomas Joy, 21, victim of an airplane crash, is to be sent by train to his home at Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Air commerce inspectors blamed "pilot-uncertainty" and a low ceiling for the accident which killed Joy and his companion, James F. Clark, 22, Pasadena, last Wednesday.

Son of the late secretary-treasurer of the Packard Motor Co., Joy was at the controls of his small monoplane when it fell in a plowed field shortly after taking off from the Santa Monica airport.

BILL POWELL AT WEST COAST

The theme of a butler in a noble Hungarian family who is carried out in "The Baroness and the Butler," starring William Powell and Annabella, which now is showing at the West Coast theater.

Annabella, in her first American-made picture, believes butlers are born to obey, but debonair Bill Powell obeys such unbutler-like impulses that hilarious comedy ensues, as well as romance.

The second attraction is "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round," a musical production. The film presents a series of new songs presented by Phil Regan and Tamara Geva. Such orchestra wizards as Cab Calloway and Ted Lewis, Kay Thompson and her rhythm choir offer music.

Short subjects include a Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck cartoon, "The Boat Builders," and World News.

Wildlife Advocate Boosts For More Stray Bird Life

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The American Wildlife Institute has sallied forth after the nation's stray cats that destroy birds and small game.

"What we need," said Henry P. Davis, the institute's executive secretary, "are some cat laws with teeth in them. They would benefit the cats as well as their victims."

Davis estimated every American stray cat annually kills at least 50 valuable song, game and insectivorous birds, besides keeping people awake nights.

Waterfront Trial Hit By Witness

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Henry P. Melnikow, testifying as a specialist in industrial relations, told a labor board trial examiner the 1934 waterfront strike "was due almost entirely to refusal of employers to deal on a coastwide basis."

Melnikow took the stand for a second day as witness at an NLRB hearing on a petition of the CIO's International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union for certification of collective bargaining agency for West Coast Waterfront workers.

MARY HAMPTON'S Column

THIS AND THAT

After a fashion lecture the other day an interesting looking woman came forward with a twinkle in her eye and whispered in my ear, "I want to thank you for your column."

"What do you mean?" I asked. "You're a very smart—still I didn't catch on. And do you know what? A long time ago, as perhaps you may remember, I printed a letter in which a reader of this column told how she had made a good-looking husband out for herself out of her husband's old tuxedo!"

And that was exactly what this woman, too, had done! Now wasn't that clever—and such fun to see! I hope more such clever ideas come in.

That interesting and lovely creature of the far-away Orient, Anna May Wong, is going to be starred in a movie soon. But it is her clothes—modern this-world clothes with a still more modern Chinese tang—that have intrigued me.

Whether it was Edna Hadd's gown for the first time, or the new gown for the second time, she was a great beauty—her dress was a masterpiece of design—or Anna May Wong's distinctive original sense of true beauty—I don't know—but the clothes have that dramatic simplicity which is the delight of all true artists and the essence of all truly great art.

For instance, there is a slender very clinging white gown of heavy crepe. Its waistline is moulded and high—its neckline smooth and high—its sleeves long and tight—and a wee train. Nothing else. But wearing around the neck is a four-tiered strand of crystal balls—great balls strung on silver! And over this is a silver lame coat—Mandarin in spirit, yet actually our own topper type too.

And all this has a peculiar fashion significance, which even Paris will feel when this picture is released. For with the eyes of the world on China, a Chinese note shall inevitably creep into new fashions. This is the history of fashion since woman first wore clothes. So between the leading Miss Wong is Chinese—such lovely Chinese too—and so elegantly smart and arresting in these clothes—the significance is tremendous!

When you see these stunning "California" sport clothes trotting about this summer, remember to appreciate them even though they are a case of genius close to home. One of the highest-paid merchandising women in the world today, Mary Lewis of New York, has just contracted with one of the leading manufacturers of Los Angeles (one of the six clever women I wrote about some time ago) paying a huge sum for the rights to have exclusive "firsts" in New York on everything brought out! And yet you will find these same things downtown in your own shops any afternoon!

I am talking about the mimitable linens, cactus prints, Mexican rope girdles, California prints and a gamut of California-inspired creations which are going to mean to the world of fashion something what the great Diego suddenly meant to the world of painting! It is genius in our midst all right!

There are about 2,000,000 lepers in the world.

JACKIE COOPER AT STATE

Playing at the State theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, will be the thrilling screen drama "O'Shaughnessy's Boy" featuring Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper and Sarah Hayden.

In the film Beery is a circus tiger trainer. His wife leaves him, taking with her their boy. Beery starts a two-year search for the lad. Beery's nerves become shattered and he's mauled by a tiger. At the close of the production he locates his son, finds his wife is dead.

Also on the same bill is a comedy murder mystery, "Forty Naughty Girls," starring James Gleason and Zasu Pitts.

Drunks Due For Animal Cages Says Mayor

WOBURN, Mass. (AP)—Public display of intoxicated folks in a lion's cage was offered today by Mayor William E. Kane as a way of curbing it, in this city.

"I'm determined to clean up the city and stop this drunkenness among our people," the mayor said grimly.

He said he would borrow the cage from an animal dealer, mount it on a trailer and have it towed about the city, illuminated at night.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD. — Richard Greene's folks back in England haven't had much in the way of letters from him yet. He has cabled, so they know he's alive and well, but letters . . .

Here's why, and here are some of the things he may tell when he gets a breathing spell to write. They are things that can happen to any young actor who signs a contract in London for a leading role in a picture that's already underway in Hollywood.

"Dear Babs," he might write, "either Hollywood is nuts or I am. I'm here—at least I think I'm here, but I'm not sure where I am. From one minute to the next, I mean."

"The trip over was fast, exciting, and set the pace for the rest of the experience. We were delayed about 24 hours by a storm at sea—a regular howler—but we docked in New York safely. Spent two hours there. Remember mainly the ripping taxis—amazingly no one was killed. At least I saw victims in the two hours."

MEET THE FOLKS

"Was given my script in New York. Studied it on the plane, so there wasn't any time for sleep. Thought I'd take a rest when the plane landed here, but the gentleman who took charge of my face, experimenting with grease-paints . . . barbers who took charge of my hair, testing various hairlines."

"And I mustn't neglect the dentist. Four hours on arrival were devoted to discovering that my teeth, which have served me satisfactorily most of my 24 years, were not quite up to Hollywood's standards. The discovery itself was made in short order. The four hours were spent in the dentist's chair, having those matters adjusted. I hope the dentist enjoyed it. I didn't. Yours truly, DICK."

The oldtime "Haul Another Load Away" ditty was set to new words and new music last night when Farmer Day's load of hay was hauled away.

Fred Day reported that of four barrels of hay worth $5 from his farm on Westminster boulevard between Seventeenth street and Ocean boulevard.

'ROSALIE' IS WALKER FILM

The world's largest night set in New York, right in his work is introduced in the super-lavish musical, "Rosalie," which co-stars Nelson Eddy and Eleanor Powell for the first time. The new picture comes to Walker's theater Sunday through Tuesday.

The set, covering some sixty acres, represents Romanza, a gay and mythical principality. Featuring 500 bit players and 500 Albertina Rasch dancers, the act was filmed entirely at night. This spectacular musical number is to be seen in the film adaptation of the former Ziegfeld success.

In order to bring new beauties to the screen, William Anthony McGuire, co-author of the original story and writer of the screen play, sent talent scouts over the principal colleges of the United States before he cast the 500 beauties in their respective dancing and showgirl roles.

Directed by W. S. Van Dyke II, the new musical includes wire hit tunes by Cole Porter, while Madame Albertina Rasch presents ballet, tap, acrobatic and waltz ensembles.

On the same bill is "Blotto," a revival of an old Laurel and Hardy comedy and a newswreel.

Swanners Are Party Hosts Again

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner opened their beautiful home on East Seventeenth street again Friday evening for another in the series of lovely dinners they are giving this spring. The same idea, an old fashioned party was carried out for this event.

The invitations sent out were the hand work of the hostess and pictured a horse, buggy, and lantern showing the way to the Swanner home.

House decorations were old fashioned flowers, calla lilies, geraniums, jonquils and freesias. Dinner was also old fashioned, as our grandmothers would have served it, with apple dumplings for dessert and was served on a red and white checked table cloth with old fashioned dishes. Patricia and Cara Lee, daughters of the Swanners, assisted with the serving.

The whole house and tables were lighted with candles and kerosene lamps. At this party as at the others there were 16 guests. The only modern thing about the party besides the home, was the game of contract played in the evening. Guests came costumed in lovely old fashioned clothes. The fourth dinner in this series will be given tonight.

BRIDE-ELECT INSPIRES PRETTY SHOWER

Dainty personal trousseau gifts were presented Miss Maxine Struck when she was guest of honor at a shower given by Miss Emma Belle Fowler Thursday evening. The affair was held in the attractive home of the hostesses parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fowler, at 1125 South Flower street.

At the refreshment hour Mrs. Fowler assisted her daughter-in-law in serving at a pretty lace-covered table, centered with sweet peas and ranunculi. Later gifts were opened at the same table. Games during the evening resulted in high score prizes going to Miss Marian Bradley and Miss Struck. Guests of Miss Fowler were Mrs. Max Struck, Mrs. Walter Born, Mrs. Ruth Born, Mrs. A. E. Fowler, Mrs. Perry E. Schrock, Mrs. F. Schrock, Mrs. Edw. Magill, Mrs. Lindon Phillips, Mrs. Clinton Rossier, Mrs. C. J. Ruley, Miss Fay Morris, Miss Lucille Stoker, Miss Marian Bradley, Miss Ethel Manning, Miss Marjorie Wonder, Miss Erma Swartz, Miss Evelyn Shepard, and Miss Phyllis Tucker.

POMONA CLASS MOTHERS MEET

For many years mothers of graduates of Pomona College's class of '17 have enjoyed meeting together once or twice a year to keep up memories of that happy campus time. This week a dozen of them from all over Southern California were entertained at luncheon by Mrs. J. A. Nemo in her charming Fullerton home.

The affair was of special significance to the members because this is Claremont's Golden Jubilee year, and they feel a part of the celebration. Consequently golden ranunculi decorated luncheon tables, while the '17 class colors of red and black were found in similar flowers elsewhere.

Class and college songs were sung during the informal afternoon at which Mrs. Nemo was assisted in serving by her daughter, Miss Faustina. Attending from Santa Ana were Mrs. A. Sturgis, mother of Mrs. Jerome Walden, and Mrs. George S. Smith, mother of Georgia Smith Atsatt of Santa Barbara.

PRE-LENT DANCE TO BE HELD TONIGHT

The first of what will be annual affairs, a Pre-Lent dance will be given tonight at the Santa Ana Country Club, under the sponsorship of Knights of Columbus.

The affair will be semi-formal, and Lee Mann and his Sunny Californians will play. An added attraction will be a uniformed patrol of the Glendale Council of K. of C. Bernard Haupt is general chairman of the event, which will begin at 9 p. m.

TWO ENTERTAIN SEWING CLUB

Mrs. Clarence Ranney and Mrs. Kenneth Price entertained their sewing club together this week in the attractive home of the former on Heliotrope drive.

Sweet peas were decorations for luncheon tables, and the remainder of the afternoon was spent informally.

Mrs. Q. L. Hardy and Mrs. Joseph Winder will entertain the group in two weeks. Present yesterday were the Mesdames Crawford Nalle, Burt Zaiser, John Newman, Gail Jordan, Q. L. Hardy, Paul Howe, Stanley Norton, and Joe Smith.

MODERN POETRY

Modern Poetry section of Ebbl club will meet Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. S. B. Marshall, 323 South Garney street. Mrs. Aldrie Worswick will review the poetry of Sara Teasdale.

Ebbl to Hear Adventure Talk

A special adventure talk with exciting motion pictures will be presented to members of Ebbl club Monday at 2 p. m., and because of the unusual character of the program, students and non-members will be permitted to attend upon payment of a small fee.

Captain Clements, noted Arctic explorer, is to be the speaker, and will be accompanied by the giant police dog "Monty" that was his companion on a recent thrilling 12,000 mile trek across Arctic wastes.

"The Top of the World" is the title of his program, which will feature motion pictures of Siberia, Greenland, Alaska, and the Yukon territory.

Founders Day Lunch Is Held

Tables for 150 guests who attended the Santa Ana Council P. T. A. Founder's day luncheon yesterday, were attractively decorated in blue and gold with streamers and smilax and yellow iceland poppies as a long centerpiece and bouquets of spring flowers in yellow china baskets.

Mrs. John Mills, jr., past president of the council, gave the invocation, while greetings were spoken by Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, council president, and the response by Mrs. James Givens.

Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford cut the first piece out of the beautifully decorated birthday cake which she presented for the luncheon. Blue and gold frosting and the dates, 1897-1933, were on the top of the cake.

Life membership presentations were made by Mrs. Lynn Crawford to Miss Plumb, a Willard Junior High teacher, Miss Eilers, principal of Woodrow Wilson, and Miss Mary Andrews, principal at McKinley school. Special council life membership was given to Mrs. Floyd Mitchell for her outstanding work.

Special guests introduced by Mrs. Glenn Tidball, hospitality chairman, were Mrs. C. C. Noble, organizer of the fourth district, and first delegate from California to a national convention; Mrs. Robert Koffel, newly elected president of fourth district; Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools; Judge Kenneth Morrison, Mrs. Olive Wickersham, president of Orange council; Mrs. R. J. Brown from Orangehigh school district; Mrs. Margaret Wolf, Girl Scout executive; Rev. Perry E. Schrock, three past presidents of the council, Mrs. Neighbors, Mrs. John Mills and Mrs. E. R. Crawford; Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, president emerita of Santa Ana council, and Mrs. Kelsey.

"What Founder's Day Means to Us" was the topic of the talk given by Mrs. Crawford, tracing the progress of P. T. A. since the founding of the first mothers' club in 1897 to the present time. Several vocal solos were given by G. Willard Bassett accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Armstrong. Mothersingers' choruses under the direction of Mrs. Lorene Cuddy Graves, sang three selections. Mrs. Van Wyk was accompanist for the chorus.

Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. John Mills took part in the candle-lighting ceremony. Benediction given by the Rev. Mr. Schrock. Mrs. Mitchell, council president, was assisted in making this annual affair a success by two committees: the reception committee composed of the Mesdames Glenn Tidball, Mary B. Robertson and Charles W. Eggleston, and the general committee composed of the Mesdames R. A. Welscher, Harold Brown, Floyd Mitchell, Marcus Lassiter, Glenn Tidball and Harry Becker.

Violet corsages were at each luncheon place and programs of gold paper were monogrammed with the oak tree seal. At the foot of a miniature oak tree the Founder's day gifts to be used by the state organization for extension work was placed by each local P. T. A. president.

LADIES ENJOY JUBILEE PARTY

Fourteen tables were in play when Jubilee Lodge held its ladies' night program. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pope were in charge of cards, while refreshments were supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Milton Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Coulson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coulson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Braasch, and Charles Hinton.

A patriotic motif was carried out at the enjoyable affair. Contract bridge prizes were awarded Arthur Hull and Mrs. Nelson Smith. Auction prizes were given Mrs. Lester Barge and Jud Sutherland, and whoopee awards went to Mrs. G. F. Peterson and Harvey Dimmitt.

Members are asked to watch the papers for announcement of a family night party to be held March 31.

GROUP MEET ANNOUNCED

Auld Lang Syne group will hold an all day meeting with a pot-luck lunch at noon, next Wednesday at 315 Van Buren street, Midway City at the home of Mrs. W. C. Wilson.

Ten Couples Enjoy Kid Party

Continuing the round of frivolous and amusing "kid parties" which have been given at their spacious Red Hill home, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons entertained a group of friends at a box dinner.

Everyone arrived in youngsters' attire, and much merriment was roused by a grand parade, and appropriate games later.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kraemer of Placentia, Mr. and Mrs. Kruger of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Osterman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Durby, Mrs. Greba Dale, Wayne Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pankey, and Mr. and Mrs. William Graves.

COLORFUL MEET HELD BY CHURCH CLASS

Phi Delta class of the First Baptist church held a luncheon and party Thursday in the church dining room which was gaily decorated in the George Washington motif, with red, white and blue table decorations and little red hatched for place cards.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. W. A. Rittner, Mrs. Flora Dolivee and Mrs. Maxie Wilson. Mrs. A. N. Robertson welcomed the guests and Mrs. Elmer Steffensen gave a short prayer before the guests were seated.

A large birthday cake trimmed with tiny American flags centered the table honoring birthday celebrants of this month, Mrs. Belle Comfort, Miss Lillie Marchant, Mrs. George Jenkins and Mrs. Evelyn Hunsaker.

"Misunderstanding," a clever skit presented by Mrs. Dolivee and Mrs. Riley Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langley, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez as hosts and hostesses.

Reservations for the dinner preceding the affair were made by the Hubers, the Langleys, the Fennandezes, Mrs. E. H. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Doty, Mr. and Mrs. George Sattler, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ewert, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Renwick, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred May. Hosts and hostesses at tomorrow evening's weekly buffet supper will be Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carden and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colburn. It will be the last affair at which Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Davis, in charge of February activities at the clubhouse, will preside.

Informality reigned at last night's monthly Country Club dance. Formal attire was in evidence, but with the coming of spring many "little dinner frocks" were noted amid the group of members and guests.

The music of Lee Mann and his Sunny Californians was greatly enjoyed by the group, with Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langley, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez as hosts and hostesses. From Fullerton were Howard Mitts of Lynwood and Thomas Cone of Fullerton. A reception at the home of Mrs. Showers, mother of the groom, followed. The young couple will honeymoon at Palm Springs and then make their home at 3233 A Fernwood street in Lynwood.

YO-MA-FO HAVE POT-LUCK

An enjoyable pot-luck supper was held this week by members of the Yo-Ma-Fo class, with 62 members in attendance. Hosts and hostesses at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Morrison, and Mrs. John Van Dyke.

Feature of the evening was an interesting talk on cooperation of family and church, presented by the Rev. W. J. Keech, Baptist minister of Garden Grove.

Mrs. C. Z. Wason, class teacher, presented a pretty guest book for her new Arrowhead cabin by a group of 20 who had housepartied there last week-end, and members were informed that Mrs. James Massey, a member who had been seriously ill, is convalescing at a nursing home, 1265 Third Avenue, in Los Angeles.

Gather To Plan March Fashion Show

These Ebblers are informally making plans for the annual spring fashion show of March 19, given by Junior Ebbl to raise funds for its scholarship fund at Santa Ana Junior college. Seated in the pleasant garden of Mrs. Harold Dale, who is general chairman, they are, from left to right, Mrs. Quentin Matzen, tickets; Mrs. Crawford Nalle, models; Mrs. Dale, Mrs. Lee Smith, tables; Mrs. Albert Harvey, Ebbl president, and Mrs. Fred Burlew, decorations.

Country Club Group Has Dance

Informality reigned at last night's monthly Country Club dance. Formal attire was in evidence, but with the coming of spring many "little dinner frocks" were noted amid the group of members and guests.

The music of Lee Mann and his Sunny Californians was greatly enjoyed by the group, with Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langley, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez as hosts and hostesses.

Reservations for the dinner preceding the affair were made by the Hubers, the Langleys, the Fennandezes, Mrs. E. H. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Doty, Mr. and Mrs. George Sattler, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ewert, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Renwick, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred May. Hosts and hostesses at tomorrow evening's weekly buffet supper will be Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carden and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colburn. It will be the last affair at which Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Davis, in charge of February activities at the clubhouse, will preside.

OPAL KELLEY BRIDE OF DOWNEY MAN

At a charming ceremony at the Santa Ana Wedding chapel last night at 7:30, Opal Kelley of Buena Park daughter of Mrs. Jane Petty and John D. Smith became the bride of Bennie J. Henn son of Mrs. Edith Showers of Downey.

Mrs. R. Carson of San Pedro was maid of honor and Alton Rice of Downey was best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Earl C. Bloss.

The bride was dressed in a powder blue ensemble of wool and crepe with navy accessories and wore a lovely orchid corsage. The maid of honor was dressed in a navy bolero costume with white "gardenia" corsage.

Progressive hearts was played during the evening with prizes going first to Miss Rose Edwards and second to Mrs. Harold LaPrelle. Following the card game a group of lovely gifts was presented Miss Steele on a tray.

Guests from Santa Ana included Mrs. C. Siegel, Mrs. F. E. Meister and the Misses Blanche Lewis, Marie Parris, Nellie Upson and Rose Edwards. From Fullerton were Howard Mitts of Lynwood and Thomas Cone of Fullerton. A reception at the home of Mrs. Showers, mother of the groom, followed. The young couple will honeymoon at Palm Springs and then make their home at 3233 A Fernwood street in Lynwood.

CHINESE LIFE TOLD NURSES

Mrs. Jessie Wolfe was guest speaker at an interesting dinner meeting of public health nurses held this week at the Y.W.C.A. at which Mrs. Quessie Anderson, Clarissa Fowler, and Lucy Hare were hostesses.

Mrs. Wolfe has recently returned from China where she has lived for many years, and her talk was of great interest to the group.

Present were Grace Denman, Quessie Anderson, Lucy Hare, Clarissa Fowler, Edith Pitthe, Ann Eckdahl, Margaret Van Scoyoc, Margaret Kuehl, Mrs. Lydia Kuehl, Edith Brandt, Idabel Durgan, Esther Hake, Jean Curries of San Diego, Velma Joffis, Mrs. Alice Freeman, Mrs. Helen Gramlich, and Miss Evelyn Ericson.

Chat Awhile With Betty

I've had the sign up for a week now—"Rumors Taken In"—but after a slow and quiet seven days, I've decided it should read "Bored—No Rumors." Or do you get me?

There hasn't been a flapping of wings in the stork department, or a flurry of whispers anent the diamond ring situation. All in all, it would seem March is coming in gently like the little lamb.

Of course there was the good news of Olive and Kenneth Ranney's strapping new son, to add yet another to the infantry of North Flower street—but that's fact, not suggestion. There weren't even many who were completely bowled over by the news of the Cruickshank-Haddon engagement, because those two have been "like that" for quite a good many years.

But it was rumored, come to think of it, that Betty and Lee Finley were in line for at least a Carnegie Medal—for a few minutes. The story is that they were driving merrily along their new nest on Panoramic Heights, when they spied a huge, heavily laden gasoline truck stalled on the railroad tracks ahead of them, or did we light a match to see if it was filled with gasoline? Did we scream or lose our heads, or even stop and fill our gasoline tank?" ask the Finleys.

"No, we did not!" is the sanctimonious retort. "We hit for the nearest telephone and called the police to put in an emergency call!"

"Oh, but why didn't you just stand there and flag the train with your petticoat, so you could be a hero like the little boy and the dyke?" (This from Alice Harrison to the petite Elizabeth.)

"There wasn't any dyke—I wasn't a little boy—I didn't have one of the what-you-may-call-it—and besides—our heroism was rewarded with a horse laugh! There wasn't a train due for 12 hours!"

Moral of this story: Don't meddle with trains and gasoline trucks.

Like Santa Ana as a whole, which is always being disappointed at the last minute by scheduled celebrities, Mr. and Mrs. George Perkins had a sad experience last night. They gave a dinner party for 30 or so (see story elsewhere) only to discover late in the afternoon that their honor guests, the C. H. Stewarts of Newark, would not arrive in time for the party! But they were due to pull in to-day, and doubtless will be much felled.

The Perkinses themselves are planning an eastern trek next month to inspect the palatial new home of their daughter Mrs. Edwin Estabrook in Germantown.

Interesting facts gleaned here and there: that the lovely Cruickshank home "Los Alisos" was not built by Madame Modjeska as is commonly supposed—but was leased by her for a time; that Marion Cruickshank was named Marion Florence for dear little Mrs. Edward Nealey, neighbor for many years; that the Robert Munro did move to Oakland, but moved back again, and now are living at 606 South Parton street;

that Katherine and Charlie McDaniels are hosting a skating party tonight.

Did you ever hear the story about the present sent Claude Brakebill, Shell Oil expert, by one Robert Miller, chili magnate? It was a huge, unbelievably heavy packing box, wrapped and tied and wired and nailed. It arrived via Express with fascinating labels adorning it. Inside was box after box, wrapping after wrapping. And finally, after hours of suspense, on the very bottom, was tucked one of the absurd little "miniatures" that Mr. B. has lining his cupboard shelves! And took weeks for him to discover the donor! The collection has mounted to the value of several hundred dollars and is unique of its kind.

Tragedy of the week: Getting all dolled up to go to the Military ball—and then sleeping through it! That happened to a certain society editor I know, and it was the faux pas of all f. p.s.

Happy Nineteenth of February really meant something to the Paul Baileys, I learned later. It was their 27th wedding anniversary, and they celebrated by whipping into Los Angeles to see "You Can't Take It With You." "Coincidence repeated itself, and they found themselves sitting right next to the Tuthill family, and in comparing notes, they further coincided to a certain extent inasmuch as Helena Bailey was initiated into Phi Mu at U. C. the same time that Roberta Tuthill became president of Laganita Court at Stanford...

Question for the month: Wherever did Charlie Swanner get that immense platter, yards long, that gives the finishing touch to the Americana which he and the lovely Helen have been using to characterize their dinner party series? And is it the same shiniest ice cake that stands in the hall on its glass pedestal, with one piece carefully out in the manner of the nineties?

Smart sight of the week: Among clever outfits spotted at the Cruickshank tea—Mrs. Howard Rapp with a saucy Philip Morris effect hat that tied under the chin—Mrs. L. G. Swales in a colorful spring print—Mrs. E. D. White in an ultra smart striped Prince Albert coat—and lovely Mrs. Ella Campeau in a towering Queen Mary hat with cascading feathers.

The latter talented pioneer was making her first "big society" appearance in seven years, and was delighted as a child. Charming and pretty, after her long illness, she greeted all the old-timers with affection, and was politely bewildered by the numbers unknown to her, who although firmly entrenched here now, seem newcomers to her!

If there hasn't been a toothsome morsel this week, you'll know the reason why Monday—because right now there's a big aching void where I've been feeling just a little too toothsome!

See you next Tuesday at eleven-thirty on KVOE!

BETTY GUILD.

Flowers Will Be Topic At Ebbl

Because of the enthusiastic response to last spring's program on the art of flower arrangement presented by a talented little Japanese, Junior Ebbl's program committee has secured another program along the same lines for next Tuesday evening's monthly get-together at the clubhouse.

J. Gregory Conway of Long Beach, well-known florist and exponent of the ancient art of flower arrangement, is to be the speaker. He is author of several books on the subject, and has studied in European cities as well as in the leading schools of Japan. He also has taught several courses on the subject at the University of California.

He will bring masses of varied spring blossoms with him to illustrate practical decoration methods, and will be introduced by Mrs. Stanley Anderson of the program committee, in the absence of Mrs. Robert Guild, first vice president. While not the annual guest night, it has been suggested that it is an excellent guest program.

Mrs. Albert Harvey will preside at the business meeting, for which final plans on the fashion show, March 19, will be made.

MRS. WARNER IS HOSTESS TO PIEIR FANS

When Mrs. E. G. Warner entertained Pieiran club members this week she was assisted in serving a delicious dessert course by Miss Nina Staples, a special guest for the day.

In the absence of Mrs. H. W. Guthrie, Mrs. Earl Ladd presided over the program, and each member read an original composition on the subject of dreams.

They included "God's Garden" by Mrs. Warner; "Sleep, Beguiler of Dreams" by Mrs. Hugh Gerard; "Minor Bards Within Us" and "Different Kinds of Dreams" by Mrs. Jennie Crawford; "House of Dreams" by Mrs. George Bond; "June," "Valentine Dream" and "My Baby's Dream" by Mrs. Mary Perdue; "Bitter Sweet" by Mrs. Jacob Bohlander; "Fireside Dream" by Mrs. Margaret Church; "Land of Dreams" by Mrs. A. McKee; "Sweet Awakening" by Mrs. Earl Ladd; and two poems, "Sea Wind" and "Christmas Again," by Mrs. Winifred H. Tacker, a guest.

Other guests were Miss Elizabeth Wyant and Miss Staples.

YOUNG GROUP MAY FORM CLUB

Lewis Tadlock of Tustin entertained a group of friends at his home Friday night on the occasion of his birthday.

Refreshments with a George Washington motif were served during the evening. Such an enjoyable time was had by the group present that they are thinking of becoming a club with regular scheduled get-togethers.

The group will meet next Friday night at the home of Jerry Rowland in Santa Ana canyon for a steak bake. Present were the Misses Virginia Scott, Jean Wallace, Harriett Spicer, Mary Perkins, Virginia Wilson, Betty Wentz and Jane King, and John Frisbie, Phil Dowds, Bill Keaton, Jerry Rowland, Willie White, Dick Geeting and the host.

First and second high prizes went to Mrs. Allen Carstensen and Mrs. Lucius Conkey. Members present were Miss Mary Jean DuBois, Miss Dorothy Dunbar, Mrs. Clyde Higgins, Mrs. Allen Carstensen, Mrs. Lee Hasenjaeger, Mrs. Craelton Smith, Mrs. Lucius Conkey, and Mrs. Paul Reynolds.

Dinner Party Enjoyed By Guests

Elaborate yet charmingly informal was the dinner party given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. George Perkins to compliment a group of eastern visitors.

Their spacious home at 2415 Riverside drive was decorated with masses of spring flowers in the red, white and blue tones that suggested February's holidays. Similar patriotic motifs were carried out in tallies and colorful table decorations. Lovely flowers were sent in by Mrs. J. E. Allen, and Mrs. O. H. Egge assisted in checking the guests.

Guests served themselves to dinner buffet style from a table brilliant with colorful flowers and tapers. Places of honor were accorded Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Bidwell of Rochester, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pitkin of Newark, N. J.

Other guests of Mr. and Mrs. Perkins were Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Dr. and Mrs. John Wehrly, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, Lieut.-Comdr. and Mrs. I. L. Landis, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Liebig, Dr. and Mrs. John Bower, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. Marguerite Borgmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Egge and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Tuthill.

YUMA WEDDING OF COUPLE ANNOUNCED

The marriage of Miss Audrey Grace Benjamin, daughter of Mrs. Grace Benjamin of Tustin, to Edsel F. Bierbower, son of Frank Bierbower of Garden Grove, was announced this week. The wedding took place at Yuma, Ariz., last Saturday at 9:30 p. m., and the young couple will reside in Phoenix and Palm Springs en route home.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Tustin Union high school in the class of 1935. Mr. Bierbower is employed at the Anaheim Citrus association while his bride has been office assistant to W. F. Kistinger of this city for the past two years.

Mrs. Bierbower was song leader while in high school and had parts in several plays including senior play. The groom played on the football and basketball teams and was well leader at one time. The couple plan to make their home in Garden Grove.

The bride was married in a navy print with black patent accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias.

LOCAL POET LECTURES AT LONG BEACH

Representatives from the Unitarian alliance of this city journeyed to Long Beach Thursday to attend a luncheon and meeting of the alliance at the Long Beach Unitarian church.

Mrs. Harwood Sharp of Santa Ana, well-known poetess, gave the program of the day on poetry for children. Other local women who attended were Mrs. Herbert Thwaite, president of the Santa Ana group, Mrs. A. J. Knight, Mrs. George L. Wright, Miss Aurelia Koch and Miss Caroline Craigen.

NELSONS ARE HOSTS TO DINNER CLUB

Because they have substituted many times at a little dinner club to which their friends belong, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson last evening renewed their hospitality by entertaining the entire club personnel.

Dinner was served at a table prettily centered with yellow and white jonquils, and bridge was the diversion of the evening.

Guests of the Nelsons were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. McFadden, Mrs. Lucius Conkey, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniger, and Dr. and Mrs. Hubert Nall.

WOMAN'S CLUB PROGRAM CHANGED

Contrary to a previous announcement, Mrs. Terry Stephenson will not give the program at the coming meeting of the Santa Ana Woman's club. Mrs. Stephenson is temporarily confined at home due to illness.

Mrs. S. A. Jones will give a travel talk at the meeting. Music will be furnished by the Visel studio and a tea honoring past presidents will be served at the close of the program.

MISS TURNER

FRIENDSHIP SCHOOL FETE

The fourth session of the School of World Friendship of the First Baptist church will occur Sunday night, February 27, starting with a sandwich tea at 5:30. The tea will be sponsored by the Fidelis class, whose president is Mrs. Robert Blanchard. At 6 o'clock the adult class will be led by Mrs. John Tessmann, speaking on "Permen and Revolution in Moslem Lands." Young people's group will be led by the Rev. Harry Owens, and senior high group by Mrs. Elsie Severance. During general assembly hour, beginning at 7:30, Miss Lula Minter will show moving pictures and colored slides giving personal glimpses of travel from Spain to Morocco.

The junior primary, and beginner departments of the church have their School of World Friendship session during the Sunday school hours in the morning. The juniors are studying under the leadership of Mrs. Roberta Chew; the primaries under Miss Irene Catland, and the beginners under Mrs. Jessie White.

Missionaries Make Plans

Women's Missionary society of Calvary church held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Arno Foster, 1004 Lehigh street, for a day of sewing and a business meeting. Pot-luck lunch was served at noon.

Mrs. John Sutherland presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Daisy Monroe, field representative for Central American missions was speaker of the day.

Committee in charge of the program included Mrs. Edna Ball, chairman, Mrs. William Bohman, Mrs. Hugh Osborne and Mrs. Nettie Woods.

Mary Stoddard

Wife's Thoughts Were Unfaithful, Though She Was Not Actually Unfaithful in Deed

I thought the letter from Mrs. B. H. L. so interesting that it was printed yesterday almost in its entirety and today this whole column will be given over to answering it. Mrs. L., though happily married to a fine young husband and mother of two lovely babies, found herself disturbingly attracted to her single brother-in-law after she

Bridge Players Facing Lunacy With New Deck

NEW YORK. (AP)—And now, to add bedlam to confusion, comes five-strike bridge.

Ely Culbertson calls it "the bridge player's nightmare." "Most people," he said, "can't even handle four-strike bridge."

Howard Schenken of the Four Aces said, "I like it."

Which gives you an idea of the impending furor.

The 65-card game has Europe by the ears, just as 52-card bridge has a lot of people in the United States.

The king and queen of England recently purchased two sets, but Americans will have to wait a few weeks because the only commercialized set in this country just closed its customs.

Cards of the new suit, bearing a solid green crown on the faces, are called "Royals," the highest suit in the deck. You can play contract or auction with the new set—if you can play either with the regulation deck you have now.

Burglar Ransacks, Takes Nothing

Suspecting the burglary was committed by a tramp she had fed a few minutes before she left the house, Mrs. C. E. Dixon, 1138 South Ross street, told police someone broke into her home and rifled the drawers in several rooms last night.

Nothing was taken, she reported, although her purse apparently had been searched. The burglary occurred sometime between 6 and 10 p. m.

Former Postmaster Dies in Pasadena

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Arthur G. Fisk, former San Francisco postmaster and once speaker of the state assembly, died in Pasadena yesterday, friends here were informed.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Hugh W. Mason of Pasadena, at whose home he died, and a son, Arthur Fisk, of Santa Barbara.

The latest method of kidding fish is to squeeze synthetic bait from a tube onto a hook. It looks like a worm but it's only a rubber composition.

GO TO CHURCH SLOGAN POSTED

Ministerial Association is sponsoring a movement during the month of March to make it the "Go to Church—Go to Sunday School" month. March 27 has been designated as "Declaration Sunday" and all those at all sympathetic with the church are urged to take their stand for it on this day by attending worship services.

Each church will carry out its own program, but a concerted effort on the part of the Ministerial association is being made to point out the values of church attendance and participation in the support of the churches. Education commission of the association in charge of this program are the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, Rev. L. D. Meggers, Rev. Harry Owings of Santa Ana and Calvin Duncan of Tustin.

SANTA ANA CHURCHES WELCOME YOU SERMONETTE

(ON THIS WEEK'S CHURCH SCHOOL LESSON)

By Glenn L. Thorne

In Mark 5, we read of Christ going into Galilee, on the other side of the sea of Galilee. At the time of our lesson this country was one of fertile and well cultivated valleys and mountainous land well suited for grazing. To this country went the Christ. They did not know of Him, nor His teaching, nor His power to help a fallen humanity, yet He lands on their coast and offers to be of service. No sooner does He enter into

HERITAGE OF THE PAST... The first successful passenger railway locomotive, George Stevenson's "Rocket," built in England in 1814, used this wheel-spread to conform to the track-width of the Stockton and Darlington Railway, first in the world. This line, in turn, adopted the gauge from horse-drawn carriages when the latter vehicles were designed to run on rails. Carriages and other road vehicles likewise had for centuries been built with a standard tread of the same width, since the days of ancient Rome. The reason for this was that the chariots, forerunners of the carriages, were deep rutted into the dirt highways of the past, and the carriages were forced to adopt the same width to fit the ruts. This, strange as it seems, was a standardized measurement passed down from generation to generation, from the ancient Roman chariots to the modern "iron horses."

MARKETS—CITRUS

Weekly Citrus Review

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—California oranges were about unchanged and lemons higher during the week at eastern and middle western auction centers.

California navel oranges were 1c higher on the auction week to make an average of $2.84, while the volume climbed 23 cars despite the partial holiday of Washington's birthday.

Lemons were up 24 cents per box to an auction average of $4.18, with the number of cars sold dropping four to a total of 64.

W. C. Frackelton, general manager of the California-Arizona orange and grapefruit marketing agency, announced next week's prorate at 1175 cars of navel oranges from Southern California in interstate commerce and 200 in intrastate commerce.

Pacific coast citrus markets were steady during the week on both oranges and lemons, the federal-state market news service reported today. Arrivals on navel oranges were almost double those of a week ago and those of lemons unchanged.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange, commenting on both private and auction sales markets for the week, says:

"California navel oranges were lower for the week under heavier supplies. Florida oranges were also lower with the Florida auction average dropping to $2.00 or less delivered at the end of the week.

"The heavy movement of mid-season varieties from Florida should be finished in about two weeks, after which some reduction in shipments may be expected.

"Orange averages per box for the week, with comparative figures for last week and for the corresponding weeks of 1937 and 1936, follow:

	This Week	Last Week	1937	1936
New York	$2.08	$2.89	$4.02	$3.30

L. A. Stocks

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Trading was active in the cent stocks on the half-hour session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange today.

Three new highs and one low were noted, with eight issues up six and nine unchanged, on a turnover of 9000 shares. Sierra trading led in volume with sales of 3000 shares.

The highs were rung up by Buckeye Union preferred, voters certificates, Puget Sound Pulp & Timber, 74, and Universal Oil. Buckeye Union was also a new low, since this was the first sale of 1938.

Those War Debt Collections

The President recently discussed the war debts briefly with a small group of administrative and congress-sional advisers, but didn't get very far.

Congress, it seems, is still hostile to any settlement short of 100 cents on the dollar, payments to be in gold.
As the debtor nations can't possibly meet these terms,
there isn't going to be any settlement.

All of which, we think, makes Uncle Sam a pretty stupid creditor.

With something like $12,000,000,000 due the United States, and the debtors unable to pay it all in cash but willing to pay what they can, our congressmen reply:
"You'll pay us the last red cent or we won't accept anything."

Yet there isn't a single member of congress who, as an individual, would adopt any such attitude if somebody owed him money. On the contrary, he would actively set about to collect—if not 100 cents on the dollar, then 90 cents, or 50, or 25, or even 10 cents on the dollar. In private business life it is considered good business to get something rather than nothing.

Six billion dollars in hand now would look pretty good to the U. S. treasury. For that matter, so would two billions—one to pay for the new navy program and the other billion for relief.

But congressmen, who, as individuals, would be realistic in dealing with private debts, think in terms of politics when dealing with debts due the government.

Thus they continue to talk pompously about collecting every last penny of the war debts—but collect nothing —and the taxpayers, as usual, pay for their folly.

Those European dictators may remember that another "upstart" named Napoleon met misfortune when he bumped into England.

U. S. Wings Over The Andes

With Europe rapidly moving on toward war, the goodwill flight of the American bombers to South America takes on added significance.

Hitler is forcing all Europe to declare itself in one of two camps, and his stand for Japan shows that Europe would make this division a world wide affair.

America, showing the world its close accord with South America, calls attention to our Monroe doctrine, which in its broad sense stands for America for Americans, without European interference. (In the World war the United States failed to apply this principle in its reverse application to Europe, but the American people intend to see that this mistake is not made again.)

The goodwill flight, showing how close North and South America can be linked for defense, tells the Old World:

"Divide yourself up as you will, threaten and bluster, stage your wars, but don't count us in. North and South America are united in the Monroe Doctrine to keep out of Europe and to keep Europe from interfering in our own internal affairs."

"Share profits with workers," advises Gannett.
That's better than sharing with taxing bodies.

Buying Salaries—An Outrage

Court hearings in St. Louis have disclosed some of the lengths to which loan sharks will go to avoid the state laws and squeeze fantastically high interest from small borrowers.

One victim testified that he borrowed $5, and paid the loan company $97.50 in five years as a "fee" for the loan.
At the end of the five years he still owed the original $5.

If this deal had been a loan the interest would figure out at approximately 390 per cent—$19 interest yearly on $5. The Missouri loan law permits a maximum charge of but two and a half per cent a month.

But this was not a loan. It was, loan company attorneys explained to the judge and jury, "salary buying."
For the sum of $5 the lender purchased 75 cents of the borrower's salary each two weeks. The purchase right continued until the borrower "bought" back his own salary from the loan company for $5.

That's about as obvious an evasion of a law as any court ever will run up against. A thin, thin story that a jury should be able to see through without the least trouble.

French wives need no longer pledge to obey their hubbies. Did they ever obey, anyhow?

Gasoline and Alcohol

Representative Knutson of Minnesota has put a bill into congress which would force all motorists to mix 10 per cent of alcohol with their gasoline—or pay a federal tax of 10 cents a gallon.

The idea back of the bill is to force the use of domestic alcohol, made from farm products, on the public.

Knutson has the cart before the horse. Alcohol mixed with gasoline has never been as practical as straight gasoline, although it may become so in the future. He would be forcing the public to use a product not as good as its present one.

What he should do is to induce scientists and mechanics to develop motors which will use this fuel as efficiently as gasoline.

When that is done, if alcohol is sold more cheaply than gasoline, he won't have any trouble getting the public to try to get "20 miles from a peck of radishes."

McIntyre Gets Big Hand
Frog "Peg"

By Westbrook
Pegler

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — This wants to be a piece about the late O. O. McIntyre, but it may turn out to be a terrible omelette, because I never met him and laid eyes on him only once in almost twenty years in the newspaper business around New York.

However, I do know many of his friends, and I learned several years ago that this strange, timid man with a passion for ham-actors' suits and noisy ties, who hid from crowds but wrote as if he were a terrible rake-hell, out rejoicing at cocktail brawls and hot shots all the time, had a bigger audience or public than anyone else in the column business, except Will Rogers, who wasn't exactly a columnist in his newspaper practice but a paragraph man.

Rogers undoubtedly topped him in customer appeal, but after he was killed McIntyre stood alone, seemingly to inherit much of the personal affection that had belonged to Will. As his own capital in this respect was considerable, he enjoyed in his last years a popularity that probably was warmer and wider than he realized, although his fan mail must have given him some idea.

It was outside New York that McIntyre weighed most, and as far back as ten years ago New York newspaper men on the road were observing that people didn't inquire whether they knew Al Smith or Franklin D. Roosevelt or Jimmy Walker or Tunney, personally, half as often as they would say, "I suppose you must know O. O. McIntyre."

HARMLESS MAKE-BELIEVE
There were many in the trade who have never encountered him in any of the places of which he wrote with a familiarity that was largely harmless make-believe, and his hold on his public was due not so much to the little fictions in his copy as to his style of doing, which became an act.

It isn't quite correct to say that he pioneered the field in which he became the greatest operator, for Herbert Corey was there before him, but gave it up to cover the war and never resumed, and Ray Carroll, the author of "The Philadelphia," ran a similar show for a while after the war. But after McIntyre really began to go he was boss in his line, and other syndicates developed imitations which were frankly that and nothing else.

That is common practice, of course, in the canned goods business. One man gets an idea for a comic strip, typic and the rivals of the papers which find it useful all want something like it.

CUSTOMERS WANTED HIM
But McIntyre's customers wanted him, and I have been meeting people in Galesburg, Ill., and Kansas City this last week who read him for years and felt a sense of great personal loss when they read of his death.

There were some who said they always turned to his column first and didn't much care what else there might be in the paper and were sad to hear something which his copy had never given them any reason to suspect—that he had been a sick man for a long time, turning out his pieces under the handicap of immurement which compelled him to use his imagination for much of his material.

I knew of people visiting New York who wanted to meet McIntyre above all the famous box-office names that he helped to glorify.

Like Tad, the sport and editorial cartoonist of the Hearst outfit, who continued his work under a threat of instant death for years and was finally signed his picture
"Tad, Shanghai," "Tad, London," and so on in bewildering day-today jumps around the world, all in his room, McIntyre kidded his readers with a courageous pretense long after he was too frail to do any strolling on the avenue or slumming in Drovers street.

THEY NEVER GO BACK

It may seem strange that a man
so homesick for Gallipoli, Ohio, or his old home town in Missouri, who had had his enormous income over so many years didn't chuck it and go back some years ago to set and whittle. But they never go back except as McIntyre did, and anyway, he liked New York and the ease and the luxury of his life more than he ever admitted right out. And, moreover, if he had gone back he would have been bored sick. You can't put a chicken back in the egg.

I have been telling people out this way that they have more rough-house and more obvious vice than have in New York. But they know their old McIntyre and won't have it any other way than his way and he was always seeing shocking and sordid things in New York, right in his work room.

The last line is always a problem in this business, and McIntyre's greatest was uttered with his dying breath when he said to his life who sat alone with him,
"turn your face this way so I can see you."

A big real estate deal was consummated yesterday when Ed Farnsworth and Leo Borchard purchased the 377-acre Maybury stock ranch from Mrs. Eva M.
Price and Mrs. Frank Armstrong.
The negotiations were conducted by Cain and Drake and the consideration was said to be slightly less than $100,000. The new owners live in Huntington Beach and plan to subdivide the property into small acreage.

Mrs. E. C. Richart yesterday confessed to Col. J. H. C. Wilson, Los Angeles postal inspector, Sheriff Rudlock and Postmaster L. L.

anonymous letters to herself and Alan Revell, thus clearing up what officials had believed was a black-

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

AP Science Editor
WASHINGTON.—Dr. N. H.
Heck, U. S. coast and geodetic survey, wants this country to go earthquake hunting in the Rocky mountains.

The hunt, he says, would save property and lives. The Rockies are still growing. But, says Heck, there is only one seismograph per 100,000 square miles in the mountains, not enough to discover the sources of the shakes.

With enough seismographs, geologists could determine the centers where slipping rocks of the growing mountains set up the tremors. Next, they could determine the nature of the geological formations, surface and buried, about these centers.

With that information they could begin to make blue prints to save lives. They could figure the vibration periods of the quake regions. The period is the rate of vibration. In some soils it is about three seconds, in others one each half-second or one a second.

Putting up buildings that vibrate at a different rate he explains is a matter of life and death. The structure whose natural vibration period happens to be the same as that of the quake, is very likely to collapse.

tious about his studies. Why, that

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Cabinet's Charts Show Goods, Prices Going Up, Farm Prices Down

WASHINGTON.—When Morgenhau, Wallace, Perkins and Eccles made up their price statement for the President last week, they had before them a mass of figures and charts from various government economists.

Reading the statement this quarter finally concocted, you can't help but think they would have been better off if they had let the charts speak for themselves.

One chart made a particular impression upon the President. It showed how price divergence can upset the economic system of the nation. In other words, if prices are all traveling in the same direction it isn't so bad. But if steel is going up while farm products are going down, then the effect upon the nation is like putting your feet on two different escalators going in opposite directions.

This is more or less what it happening today.

For instance, the farmer has to turn his cream into butter, even if the price of butter is down. He can't tie up his cows the way a steel manufacturer can pull the fires from under his blast furnaces.
And if a cow dies, the farmer has to sell the hide even if the price is down.

HIDE DOWN, SHOES UP
For this hide he cannot buy as many pairs of shoes as he once did, because the price of the hide is down and the price of the shoes is up. For the shoe industry is regulated.

Nor can the farmer buy so much farm machinery for his cream and butter, because the steel industry also is regulated.
Steel prices today have changed little.

The fact that the farmer can't buy as much, eventually comes back to hit the steel and shoe manufacturer, and this whole business of price divergence is one of the biggest causes of every depression.

In 1928 prices were following the same general trend. In 1929 they first began traveling in opposite directions, and hit their greatest divergence at the bottom of the depression in 1932-33. Similarly, they were in perfect line again in 1936, but began to get on opposite escalators in 1937.

The officials who prepared the President's statement discussed this in great detail, but decided that unless the country wanted to put on the same economic strait-jacket into which Hitler has laced Germany, nothing much can be done about price divergence. That was one reason their statement sounded so milk-and-water.

One or two factors will help,
however—this farm program, tariff reductions on high-priced manufactured goods, and anti-trust action against monopoly products.

HIGH COST OF GOOD-WILL
In terms of dollars, the flight of the army bombers to Buenos Aires to participate in the inauguration of President Ortiz was something more than a "gesture." To send the six bombers to Argentina and back cost $34,000 in gas and oil alone.

The flying fortresses eat up gasoline at the rate of 40 gallons an hour for each of their four engines. The six planes, with their 24 engines, consumed 960 gallons every hour of their 40 hours of flying from Langley field to

When people visit a place for the first time they're naturally a little bit nervous. That's the reason the local officials who come in contact with them should be kind and patient. That's why my Uncle Fud was such a good conductor on a train down home.

One time a young married couple was ridin' on his train and when Uncle Fud asked for the tickets, the groom was so nervous he handed my uncle his marriage license instead of his ticket.

Uncle Fud looked at it and says
"Well, young fella, you got a ticket here for a long, weary journey but it ain't on this line."

"It was certainly a cold winter, wasn't it?"
"It was nothing. When I was born it was so cold the stork couldn't make it—a penguin brought me."

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

KILLED WRONG PIG

To the Editor: For a while it looked like the Republicans were smarter than us Democrats. They saw the louder they hollered about Roosevelt appointing judges to the supreme court the more he got to appoint. So they just took this last appointee in without a peep.
But I'll be blamed if they didn't butcher the wrong goat when they let the Wall Street guys start to collect five million dollars to pay Roosevelt to quit.

Now, if these fellows can collect that much money, times are too good to be squawking. If they made all this money before Democratic days and have five million left after going through all the hard times, they hooked us fellows for too much money.

What Other Editors Say

REPORTS (1938)

You don't exactly expect to find a man in the cashier's place, nor is it customary to depend on the fiscal department for humor, but there is a sly and dry wit in a letter we have just received from our treasurer.

We noticed a little editorial in The Saturday Evening Post recently that dealt with the increase in reports required from various federal state and local governments.
It seems that in 1927 the Curtis Publishing Co. filed 14 tax returns with the authorities at a cost for preparation of $850. Then, years later, the same company, filed 44, 000 reports, returns and questionnaires, the cost of preparation being $21,000. Quite a venture in made work. The same editorial said that in 1927 one return was required by the Canadian government, and in 1937 one.

Anyway, inquiry of our treasurer as to how we stand in the matter brings this:
"We have been so dog-gone busy preparing tax reports that we haven't had time to try and work out and tabulate the number of such tax reports."—San Diego

PHILADELPHIA.—Cause of death—confinement in bed. Number of deaths from being in bed—10. Patients—all over 65 years of age.

These figures come from the Journal of the American Medical association, in a report by L. B.
Laplace, M. D., and J. T. Nicholson, M. D., of Philadelphia. The title of their report was:

"Prolonged recumbency as a contributory cause of death in elderly persons."

Their conclusion, however, was that in 10 cases being in bed was the real cause. The fact that elderly persons are likely to die if they stay in bed too long—usually several months—is an old medical story.

The Philadelphia physicians in these 10 cases sought a more exact explanation. They found that long lying down, because it curtails a person's mobility, resulted in congestion of blood in the capillaries.

That, in turn, decreased circulation in the large blood vessels. As a result, the blood failed to carry enough oxygen to the tissues and this caused permanent damage to the capillaries. After this, circulation of the blood began to fail, and death was the result.

DALE CARNEGIE'S
Day
—By—Day
Philosophy

Not in years have I noticed so many good books as recently.
Good biographies; stirring fiction;
books to help you solve your problems.

The youth of our land will be influenced immeasurably by what it reads. The tremendous effect reading matter has on us was impressed upon me the other evening as I read the scrapbook of a man who has written clean, wholesome books for the youth of this country for forty years. Gilbert Patten is credited, by those who grew up on his stories, with having moulded their characters and shaped their careers. And he has sold—hold your breath—more than one hundred and twenty-three million copies.

"FRANK MERRIWELL" Publishers claim that more than one person reads every copy of a book. Think of influencing two or three times as many persons as constitute the entire population of the United States! Gilbert Patten's chief character was "Frank Merriwell," a Yale football star.
So important was this character, that newspapers headlined their sports columns with such phrases as "Walter Johnson does a Frank Merriwell," and "The Frank Merriwell of Harvard gets a degree" (referring to the captain of the Harvard football team).

Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent, wrote Mr. Patten that "The Merriwell stories were my Bible as a boy." Frederick March, states that as a kid he "read the Frank Merriwell stories voraciously."
Frank personified for us kids the ideal of sportsmanship, clean living, courage in the face of danger.

AL SMITH WRITES

There are other letters from men prominent in various walks of life. Al Smith, once governor of New York, Dr. Harold S.
Boardman, former president of the University of Maine; H. T. Webster, famous cartoonist. O. O.
McIntyre, America's most popular columnist, draws a graphic picture of himself leaning against the counter of a little store, eagerly awaiting the arrival of a Merriwell story; and then dashing home to bury his nose in it until he had reached the very end.

Eddie Egan, once a famous pugilist, now Assistant District Attorney of the United States, tells us in his book, "Fighting for Fun," that Frank Merriwell definitely changed his career, that he inspired me to go to Yale, shaped my ambitions for clean living and athletic supremacy."

READ RIGHT BOOKS

A book which fires your imagination and inspires you to do something worthwhile will furnish you just as much entertainment as some cheap, hair-raising thriller.
"Northwest Passage," by Kenneth Roberts, is a book to stir the imagination, while "Life Is My Song" (Farrar and Rinehart), will educate you while it thrills, for it is full of adventure and romance, yet draws a clear picture of the places John Gould Fletcher has been, and the life he has led.

Look to the kind of literature you read, boys and girls—and I mean boys and girls of all ages.
Read books that will enrich your life and inspire you to make the most of yours.

RADIO SCRIPT VALUES

Scribblers on the continuity that super-colossal has recently

Magnificent—It smells.
Stupendous—Fair.
Epic—Passable.
Unprecedented—Good.
